Long Creek Children Sing Sunday

The children's choir and youth of Long Creek Presbyterian Church presented the musical "Kid's Praise" Sunday. "Kid's Praise" is a happy musical for kids of all ages compiled and produced by Ernie Retino and Debby Kerner. The drama is the story of Psalty, an unused children's hymnbook, and how the children on a neighborhood playground rediscover her music. The musical contains 10 songs divided by short, spoken, vignettes.

Work on the production began July 17. Betty Davenport and Sue Lovelace shared director responsibilities for the 14-voice children's choir. Mary Lingerfeldt directed the youth singers. The production contained such spirited tunes as "Amen, Praise the Lord", "If I Were A Butterfly", "Heaven Is A Wonderful Place" and "The Wa-Wa Song."

The scene for the drama was the make-believe Long Creek Park. That affect was produced by plants, benches and beautifully-painted scenery. Vickie and Ernie Dameron, Sue Lovelace and Cindy Robinson painted the park like set. Balloons were provided by Whiteside's Flowers.

Psalty, the hymnbook, was played by Barbara Bridges. She encouraged the children to rediscover some old hymns of praise and fun. Psalty was costumed on a blue lifesize hymnbook. Her beautiful costume was made by Mary Lingerfeldt.

After the production, the choirs and large crowd enjoyed refreshments provided by the Women of the Church.

KMHS NEWS

By AMY AUSTIN

During the week of Homecoming, high school students stayed busy. Each club was responsible for decorating an area in the school. On Thursday, judges chose decorations by the Future Homemakers of America as the best. Second place went to the Science Club followed by the Beta Club.

On Friday afternoon students reported to the stadium for the field activities and pep rally. Field events included a three-legged race, water balloon toss, sack race, greasy pig race and an egg toss. Each club was represented in four of the events. The Auto-Mechanics Club was awarded the winning trophy. Following the trophy presentation, Mr. Dean Westmorland entertained students by Kissing the greased pig on the cheek.

The pep rally was led by the cheerleaders and the pep band. The spirit stick was presented to the pep band at the conclusion of the pep rally.

During the pre-game activities at the ballgame, all Homecoming nominees and Senior football sponsors were honored by being driven separately around the track. The Chorus, directed by Eugene Bumgardner, sang the National Anthem.

With all nominees, sponsors and the court on the field, Miss Gretchen Rae McHone was crowned the 1985 Homecoming Queen by Principal Ronnie Wilson at halftime. Last year's queen, Stephanie Moss, presented her with a dozen yellow roses, and Patrick Hamrick, SPO President, pinned the Queen's sash.

Gretchen is a Senior at the high school where she is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Pep Club, Spanish Club, Science Club, and the Key Club. In the band, she is Senior Drum Major during marching season and plays percussion during concert season. Also, she is a member of the pep band. Gretchen is the daughter of Cager and Donna McHone.

The football team defeated Chase 59-0.

Following the game, a dance was held in the Commons Area. All high school students and alumni were invited. There was a spotlight dance for the Queen and Court. At the conclusion of the dance, balloons containing money were released.

Phil Bryson and Steve Ellis were faculty co-chairmen for Homecoming 1985. They were responsible for organizing all of the sophomore homeroom teachers into committees for overseeing Homecoming Activities.
