Van Dyke Retires From KM Housing

John Van Dyke, maintenance supervisor for the Kings Mountain Housing Authority for the past 14 years, retired recently.

As a retirement gift, the employees treated him to a luncheon at Holiday Inn and the Housing Authority of-ficers and directors presented him with a gold watch.

Van Dyke, a Kings Mountain native, resides with his wife, Helen Lovelace Van Dyke, on West Gold Street.

Mrs. Van Dyke is a member of the staff at Mauney Memorial Library. They have three children, Janelle, Robert and John Van Dyke, Jr., six grandchildren and one great-grandchild and are members of First Baptist Church.

John L. McGill, chairman of the board of the Kings Mountain Housing Authority, commended Van Dyke for his "hard work and diligence" at a recent meeting of the board of directors. Other members of the board are Carl Wilson, William Orr, Rev. M.L. Campbell and Don Parker.

Maintenance of the 250 units of the Kings Mountain public housing kept Van Dyke busy, he said, but now he plans to work "a little" at home and enjoy his grandchildren.

Enjoying the retirement luncheon with John and Helen Van Dyke, in addition to Executive Director Jordan, were Vivian Rikard, Mary Edwards, Paul Brown, William Manning, Tommy Bell and Berben Burris, all of the Housing Authority staff.
