Wearing Seat Belts Pay Off For Four KM Students

During the month of March, students at Kings Mountain Senior High were given incentives, at random, for wearing their seatbelts.

From those wearing seatbelts, four weekly prizes were given to students whose names were drawn by Ronnie Wilson, Principal and Paula Hildebrand, Health Coordinator.

Prize winners were: Katherine Harper, $25.00 savings bond donated by First National Bank of Shelby; Regina Brown, $25.00 gift certificate donated by Dellinger's Jewel Shop of Kings Mountain; Paul Terry, Solar desk calculator donated by PPG Industries of Shelby; and Susie Moore, 1986-87 Athletic pass, donated by Kings Mountain Senior High.

The Seatbelt Incentive Program Committee applied for and received a $1,000.00 grant from the North Carolina Public Health Association, Inc. Because of these grant monies, four additional $25.00 prize drawings will be possible for all four high schools participating in the seatbelt project. In addition, a grand prize of a $100.00 savings bond which was donated by the Shelby Exchange Club will be given to a student in each school.

The seatbelt program has now entered the follow-up stage. Wearing data will continue to be collected twice a week until May 15.

At the end of the project, the school which has maintained the highest seatbelt wearing percentage will receive a VCR donated by K-Mart of Shelby. This will be given during the Awards Day ceremony to the winning school.

Recent data shows the average wearing rates during the incentive phase as Kings Mountain Senior High, 62.9%, Shelby Senior High 60.3%, Crest Senior High 53.5%, and Burns Senior High 51.7%.
