Les Roark Is Endorsed By Educators Association

Lester D. Roark, former resident of Grover and Democratic nominee for the U.S. Congress from the 10th District, said Friday at a District 2 meeting he is pleased to have the endorsement of the 45,000 member N.C. Association of Educators and is surprised his opponent, Republican Cass Ballenger, of Hickory, is questioning it.

Said Roark: "I am surprised that Mr. Ballenger has taken such a position, since he vigorously sought the NCAE's endorsement himself. Mr. Ballenger filled out the same questionnaire form that I did; and he appeared before the same panel of some 25 educators that I did and he answered the same set of questions. Incidentally, these educators live in, work in, and represent every school system right here in our 10th Congressional District. I am pleased and proud to have their endorsement. Educators have the same right to express their concerns and their interests as do the billion dollar companies which contribute millions to candidates who support those companies' particular points of view. When I say I am a conservative, I am speaking of a 30-year record of public service in which I continually have exercised a tight-fisted conservative approach to government spending. But I have never said I was a conservative when it comes to standing up for the concerns and interests of the people who are educating this nation's children."

Roark Appoints Secretary

Lester D. "Les" Roark, Democratic candidate for the 10th Congressional District office, today announced that Brent D. Childers of Granite Falls has been hired as press secretary for the campaign.

Childers, 25, a former political writer with the Hickory Daily Record in Hickory, will be in charge of coordinating media activities and others news-related aspects of the campaign.

"I am pleased to have Childers join my campaign staff," Roark said. "I feel his qualifications as a writer will be an asset to the campaign."

Childers served two years as a staff writer with the Hickory Daily Record during which time he reported on county, state and federal government. Prior to this employment with the Hickory newspaper, he worked two years as associate editor of the Granite Falls Press, a weekly newspaper in Caldwell County.

Childers attended N.C. State University in Raleigh, where he majored in writing and editing. He also attended Appalachian State University in Boone. He is a 1979 graduate of South Caldwell High School in Hudson.

In 1976, Childers toured the Soviet Union with N.C. Agriculture Commissioner James A. Graham and other members of North Carolina's farming community.

Childers resides in Granite Falls. He is engaged to LaDonna C. Beard of Lenoir, a nursing student at Caldwell Community College in Hudson. He is a member of Union Grove Baptist Church in Lenoir and a former member of the Granite Falls First Baptist Church.

GOSPEL SING

What you should know about... jewelry "discounts?"

40% "OFF" ... 60% "OFF" ... "OFF" OF WHAT?

The public is being bombarded by various outlets — even famous department stores — with ads and promotions claiming so-called "discounts" which are so exaggerated that you should question them.

Are they really true discounts? Was the merchandise ever really sold at the high "regular" or "former" or "reference" price quoted?

Or, was the merchandise fictitiously priced to lure you into thinking you're getting a bargain?

There's nothing wrong with legitimate discounts...we are against deceptive pricing. You owe it to yourself to shop around and compare quality and service as well as price.
