Distilling Program Set

Step back in time on a visit to the Schiele Museum Backcountry Farm on Sunday, Sept. 28 (2-5 pm). You will get a close-up view of Gaston County's first industry, the manufacture of spirits from the surplus of the harvest.

Distilling was the foremost local industry here in the years following the Revolutionary War. Our Scotch-Irish settlers brought the skills and knowledge required to turn their surplus corn, peaches, or apples into a more easily marketable liquid form. In the days before aspirin, cough medicine, anesthetics, and tranquilizers whiskey was employed for a variety of medical problems.

The stiller, his family, and neighbors - all in 18th century clothing and character - will share their knowledge and skills. Come celebrate our Piedmont Carolina heritage at Schiele Museum's "Pioneer Spirits" program. There is no charge.

Shower Honors Mimi

Mimi Mercier, bride-elect of Jeff Bowman, was honored at a bridal shower August 18th at the home of Mrs. Lewis Dellinger. Sharing hostess duties with Mrs. Dellinger were Mrs. Peggy S. Hord, Mrs. Gene Dye, Mrs. Jim Yarbrow, Mrs. Jane G. Dixon, Mrs. Bob Smith and Mrs. Tommy Bridges.

The bride-to-be was presented a white crysanthemum corsage which enhanced her black and white party dress.

Sixty guests showered Miss Mercier with a variety of wedding gifts. The hostesses presented Mimi with a cream and sugar service in her china pattern.

Summer flowers decorated the home. Guests were directed to the refreshment table which was highlighted by a fruit "tree". Complimenting the fruit were vegetable sandwiches and chicken-salad tarts. A bridal fan, covered with summer flowers decorated the punch table and was afterwards given to Miss Mercier as a keepsake.

Mimi and Jeff plan to be married September 27 in First Baptist Church.
