

Ferebee Scholarship Recipient

Fluvanna Ferebee, a recent graduate of Kings Mountain Senior High School, was presented a merit scholarship certificate by Joe Andrews, General Manager of Tubular Products Service Center of Combustion Engineering, Inc. This award is one of several that the company gives children of its 20,000 employees.

Fluvanna received numerous awards and recognitions throughout her high school years particularly in the area of math and science. Her most distinguished award was having the privilege of representing the State of North Carolina at the American Junior Academy of Science meeting in Philadelphia this past May.

Fluvanna is now enrolled in Materials Engineering at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University of Blacksburg, Virginia.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Ferebee, Jr. of Kings Mountain.

Luncheon In Gastonia Honors Bride-Elect

Miss Leigh Mauney, whose wedding to Wally Davis takes place Nov. 1 in St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, was honored Oct. 11th at a 12 noon luncheon at Gaston Country Club.

Entertaining together were Mrs. George Houser and Mrs. Carl Mayes, both of Kings Mountain, great-aunts of the bride-elect; Mrs. Irvin Allen, Jr., Mrs. Lee McIntyre, both of Kings Mountain, Mrs. Moffatt Ware of Concord and Mrs. Bryant Herndon, Jr. of Charlotte, all cousins of the bride-elect.

Special guests were the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Charles Mauney of Kings Mountain; the bridegroom-to-be's mother, Mrs. Bill Davis of Kings Mountain; and Mrs. Carl Mauney of Kings Mountain, Mrs. Jack Wagner of Statesville, grandmothers of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Ernest Davis of Kings Mountain, grandmother of the bridegroom-to-be.

Upon arrival, the 30 guests were served fruit punch as they were presented to the bride-elect by the hostesses. Miss Mauney was presented a lace white corsage to wear with her Fall party dress.

Guests were seated at U shaped tables and places of guests were marked with miniature grapevine wreaths surrounding a red wooden heart with each guest's name imprinted and arranged with baby's breath and red velvet bow and ribbon presented as favors and made by the bride's great-aunts. The bride's place was marked with a small red imported box filled with the bride's lucky sixpence, lace handkerchief and a blue garter tied with red velvet bow. The bride-elect was also presented the large heart-shaped grapevine basket which centered the bride's table as a gift from the hostesses. Smaller grapevine pots of pink and red Kalanchoe and ivy centered the tables where guests found their places and were served a three course luncheon. Mrs. Moffatt Ware, the former Ann Mayes of Kings Mountain, prayed the wedding blessing and during the luncheon each of the hostesses read wedding poems to the bride.

Miss Mauney was presented a piece of her great-grandmother's silver by her great aunt, Mrs. George Houser and family. The silver was used by the late Mr. and Mrs. D.C. Mauney, parents of Mrs. George Houser and the bride-elect's father, Mrs. Carl F. Mauney.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. John Morgan and Mrs. Mark Ray, both of Statesville, Mrs. Ronnie Ray of Deep Gap, and Mrs. Hugh Hayes, Jr. of Charlotte.

The Civic Hatchback is a lot of car. For very little money.

Front-wheel drive, 4-speed manual transmission, rack and pinion steering, power-assist front disc brakes, torsion bar front suspension and steel-belted radials are standard.

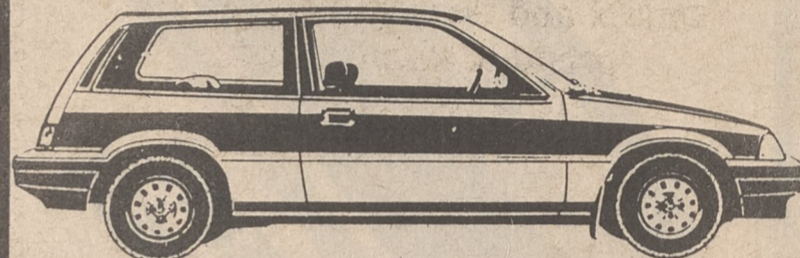

A fully carpeted interior, adjustable headrests and reclining front bucket seats make you feel at home on the road. The long roofline makes more room for passengers.

Safety-seat anchors keep children in their place.

The rear seat folds down to hold over 15 cubic feet of cargo. A cargo area light, door glass defrosters, remote-operated outside mirror, and a coin box make this 1987 Civic an upgrade hatchback. Without the upgrade price.
