RAGAN HARPER
facts on calcium loss

Now that Ronald McDonald is adding calcium to his buns, don't you think maybe we should do likewise to our diets?

Long-term calcium deficiency results in serious bone shrinkage. From middle age on, women especially should counter bone loss from diminishing calcium metabolism. Now you know why "Grandma" shrinks in old age.

Your pharmacy carries several forms of calcium supplements. So, if you're a maturing woman, replenish calcium daily through supplements. Also, pick up a calcium-osteoporosis fact sheet at our Rx Counter, where we care for your health.

Auction To Benefit Boys Club

An auction for benefit of the Kings Mountain Boys Club will be held Saturday at the old Belks Building downtown. Co-sponsors are the Kings Mountain Rotary Club and Kings Mountain Boys Club.

"We've got a lot of good items to be auctioned off, including two sailboats and a 1974 Vega donated by Testa Chevrolet, says co-chairmen Wilson Griffin and Huitt Reep.

Auctioneer Joyce Dixon will sound the gavel promptly at 8:30 a.m. Saturday morning and the public is invited.

"Other citizens with donated items are invited to contact any member of the sponsoring organizations."

Exhibit Planned

There are Italians in Cleveland County and they are planning a special Heritage Christmas Exhibit at the Cleveland County Historical Museum, located on the Square in uptown Shelby.

The exhibit, which is open on Sun., Dec. 7, will highlight not only the various Italian Christmas customs, but also give recognition to Italians and/or Italian-Americans, in the fields of art, science, business and education.

To help achieve this, there will be exhibits of material loaned to the museum by local people on the various aspects of Italy. Special Christmas and decorative items from Italy will also be on special loan from the Mint Museum in Charlotte.

This exhibit will be the seventh in a series of Heritage exhibits that have spanned the Germans, Greeks, Polish, French, Spanish and English. The object of each exhibit has been to show that culture in a positive way and to give descendants and others a chance to discover the rich heritage.

Anyone willing to help with the exhibit, or wanting to loan items for display, may contact the Museum at 482-8186.
