Dixon In Running For Award

Cleveland Avenue, said Mrs. Dixon's rapport with people and her genuine love for her fellowman is her big asset. When she interviews an applicant for a job she works until she finds him or her a suitable job, he says

Mrs. Dixon says that one of the most timesaving devices now in an employment agen-cy is a computer system which she had a tough time adjusting to but finds she likes it. During one month's time she has run 78 names of job applicants through her computer.

She recalls that her highest case load for claims was in 1974, a period she called "Black Tornado" because local mills had closed and people were standing in employment lines and signing up here and also in Shelby and Gastonia. Better times have come to the area, and Mrs. Dixon says jobs are plentiful with new plants locating in this area. She has worked with employers from Gastonia, Shelby, New York, Ohio, Virginia and Kings Mountain in recent months interviewing applicants for jobs. "I just do my job. I love God, my family and people and I think my calling was for this particular task," said Mrs. Dixon, who said the late Mary B. Goforth was a real "pro who took the time to teach her all phases of the business.

Born on the old Cora Mill Village to the late Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Laughter in a family of 10 children, eight of whom are living, Mrs. Dixon learned at an early age how to earn a living. Active in East Side Baptist Church, she gardens and quilts and enjoys crafts at her home on Westover Drive. She has two daughters, Elaine (Mrs. Jay) Powell, Jr. of Conyers, Ga. and Sheila (Mrs. Jimmy) Oliver of Charlotte. There are four granddaughters, Stephanie and Shannon Powell and Jessica and Stacy Oliver, her pride and joy. "Some people I've helped to find jobs return to us and let us know how they like their jobs and some placements have been stepping stones to future jobs in distant towns. Each placement is important. God had a hand in leading me to the Employment office 37 and one half years ago in November 1948. I had left my job as a payroll clerk at the Old Phenix Mill to have my daughter, Elaine, and merely went by to see if there was an opening somewhere. It was a small office but I was hired and it's been a challenge and a rewarding one", she said.

The Kings Mountain office, open Mondays through Fridays from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Cleveland Avenue, is staffed by manager Webber, Mrs. Dixon and part-time employee Susan Herndon. Although the office has moved several times over the years, the Community Center office is more spacious and in a good location for employers and prospective employees, said Webber.

Since the beginning of the ESC Employment Services program year on July 1, 1986, the North Carolina Agency has placed 157, 822 individuals in jobs through 78 job service centers, including Kings Mountain.

and merged into one company known as KMG Minerals, Inc. The Brick Division of KMG Minerals, Inc., as it is now known, is producint 26 million brick per year. The production is essentially sold out through the end of 1987 and market surveys conducted by KMG indicate a continuing strong demand for its products into the coming years.

The proposed new facility will have a capacity of approximately 40 million brick per year and plant officials said this will allow for normal sales growth and the new technology will permit production at substantially reduced cost per unit. Assum-ing a reasonably strong known as KMG Minerals, market, KMG officials anticipate it can operate the corporated into many unique buildings. One fourth of the KM brick is used in commercial or industrial applications such as shopping centers, bank buildings and health or medical facilities. About two thirds of the recent year's production has been used for residentail development. KMG officials don't an-ticipate any dramatic change in these applications although the use of the white brick has been growing in the commercial and industrial

From Page 1-A to this office I will work for each and every citizen, whether rich or poor, and whether they are rich or poor will not affect my opinions in any way. I will work toward getting all streets repaved that need it and more important I will listen to and follow up on all complaints, no matter who makes them. I will spend whatever time it takes to correct any complaint I get. I will very definitely look into the cost of utilities and I believe the utility costs can be lowered with a few changes in the Hamrick administration. I will continue to attract businesses to Kings Mountain to the best of my ability. I will leave it up to you, the voter, if you want someone in the office of Mayor who really cares about your good. A vote for me is a vote for you", said Hamrick.

Filing continues through noon Aug. 7th. Filing fee for mayor is $10. Filing fee for commissioner is $5. A candidate must live in the district (ward) in which he seeks election and must have been a resident of the city at least 30 days prior to the close of the registration books on Sept. 7th. Candidates must be registered votes and can also register at Mauney Memorial Library on Piedmont Avenue during Library hours or at Mrs. Becky Cook's residence at 717 Meadowbrook Road.
