Presbytery Honors Dr. Blair

Dr. William Harris Blair, retired ARP minister, was honored for 50 years of continuous service in First Presbytery by the Associate Reformed Presbyterian denomination at the recent Fall meeting hosted by Boyce Memorial ARP Church in Kings Mountain.

Dr. Blair began his ministry in 1937 at the New Sterling ARP Church just outside of Statesville. Since that time he has served as pastor of congregations in Charlotte and Gastonia. He retired from the active pastorate after serving for 18 years at the Linden ARP Church in Gastonia and subsequently moved to Kings Mountain.

Rev. Bill Tyson, pastor of Boyce Memorial ARP Church, said Dr. Blair has had a very significant ministry to retired pastors and missionaries, traveling all over the ARP denomination in a ministry of love and help. Tyson said that Blair's wife, Floy, has served faithfully with him and beside him over these years and has contributed much to his ministry.

First Presbytery is composed of all ARP churches in North Carolina.

On Oct. 13 the Boyce Memorial ARP Church hosted First Presbytery of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian denomination. The Presbyterian system of government is a representative form of government. The local church is ruled by the Session, which is composed of elders elected by and from the congregation. A Presbytery includes all the ARP churches in a defined geographical area. Oversight of the Presbytery is rendered by meetings of Presbytery, the next higher ruling body of church. Presbytery meetings include the pastors of each congregation along with a ruling elder representative from each local church.

LOOKERS VS. BUYERS
There's a sad truth that our experts can point to regarding real estate advertising: only about three percent of the people who call to inquire about a property are really interested in it. Some can't afford it. Some really want something else. And some are "just looking."
That's why we don't show a house to just anyone who calls. We meet the prospect in our offices and qualify their interest: do they really want a house like yours? Can they afford it? Can they take title when you want to sell? Only if they pass all those criteria do we bring them to see your property-for-sale.
Consider the homeowner trying to sell on his own: he has to field the calls himself and shows his home to people who may be just wasting his time. And, if he thinks he has a buyer, can that person qualify for a loan to buy the property? Many sellers find themselves locked into buyers who can't get the money together.

School Election Tuesday

Hillside Drive, supervisor with United Parcel Service.

A third seat on the board will be filled by appointment in December to fill the unexpired term of Kyle Smith, who was recently elected mayor. Smith will be sworn into his new office in December.

Campbell, who has served four years, said he is not running on any specific issues but has a continuing interest in providing quality education so that each child may have the opportunity to achieve to his or her fullest potential.

King says the most pressing issue is the reorganization of the school system and that he wants to be a part of the board in making the decision to implement it.

Sanders, who is a representative for sports teams with the Kings Mountain Optimist Club and has been involved in city recreation and youth programs for 20 years, said he was encouraged to run by parents. He said that politics should be removed when scholarships are given and given on the basis of qualification. Sanders said he listens to comments of the young people on the various sports teams and believes he can be an asset to the board of education.

Mrs. Belt said she favors a K-5, sixth, seventh and eighth graders at the junior high, and ninth, 10th, 11th and 12th graders at the high school in the school reorganization plan. She doesn't like the idea of countywide consolidation at any time in the future and feels that she is in a point in life where she can do something for the community. Mrs. Belt said she attends PTO meetings and school board meetings, is a substitute teacher and volunteer at West School, and says that she knows some of the problems of students and can give a fair assessment to things that may arise. Her children are growing up in the school system and she is interested in what happens to all children, she said. With the sensitivity of some issues arising on the school board, Mrs. Belt said she thinks a woman should be elected in one of the two slots open Tuesday.

Wilson said he is interested in the well being and education of all children and wants them to have the best education possible.

Mrs. Mauney said she is interested in maintaining positive education policies for the system and all students and says that the quality of education the system provides will direct all aspects of community life.

Hollifield said he wants to be a part of maintaining quality education and said that Kings Mountain has always been a progressive system for its size and forerunner in many issues that have later become statewide. "We owe it to our children and teachers to have decisions that affect them carefully considered and only the wisest choices made," he said.
