

MR. AND MRS. BUD SELF SR.

Selfs Are Honored On 50th Anniversary

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Willard (Bud) Self, Sr. honored their parents at a 50th wedding anniversary reception at the First Wesleyan Church Fellowship Hall in Cherryville on December 27, 1987.

Nancy Self, daughter-in-law of the honored couple, attended the register as the guests signed in. She then placed their gifts on a table covered in white linen with a beautiful silver bowl in the center filled with golden delicious apples. After retiring from Carolina Freight Mr. Self continues to farm produce and also tends to his apple orchard.

The guests were then presented to a receiving line consisting of the honored couple, their children, Dorothy Gantt of Kings Mountain, James Self, Jr. of Cherryville, Bobbie Ebright of Winterhaven, Florida, Libby Bost of Cherryville, and Carolyn Lovelace of Kings Mountain.

Everyone was directed to a table of pictures of the honored couple, children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were displayed.

The refreshment table was covered with red tablecloths and white lace placed over top. Around the entire table was a white ruffled skirt with three large red and green bows placed accordingly. The centerpiece was a candelabra decorated with white mums, baby's breath, greenery and five red candles completed the arrangement.

At the beginning of the table was a three tiered cake decorated with red and green flowers and topped with two doves, a gold bow and a gold 50 emblem. The cake was cut by Mrs. Barbara Wilson and served by Mrs. Cindy Lovelace, grand-daughter in law of the honored couple.

The table also consisted of chicken salad cups, date tarts (topped with cool whip and green cherries), cheese straws, vegetable sandwiches, pineapple slices, nuts and white mints decorated with red and green leaves. Most of the food was prepared by Dorothy Gantt and Carolyn Lovelace, daughters of the couple.

At the end of the serving line the red punch was placed on a round table decorated same as the refreshment table with holly and greenery around the beautiful silver bowl. The punch was prepared by Libby Bost, daughter of the couple and served by Ashley Leftwich.

The fellowship hall was then completed with beautiful red poinsettias setting all around the room.

Mrs. Self received a corsage of red carnations and Mr. Self received also a red carnation, for his lapel.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Self, who were married in York, S.C. on December 11, 1937, are members of the Nazarene Church of Cherryville. Mrs. Self is the former Mallie Mae Gordon daughter of the late Jones and Elizabeth Gordon. Mr. Self is the son of the late Luther and Hester Self.

Mr. and Mrs. Self have five children, mentioned in the receiving line, six grandchildren, Phyllis Berry and Robert Lovelace of Bessemer City; Tommy Gantt and Davie Lovelace of Kings Mountain, Michael Ebright of Winterhaven, Florida, three great-grandchildren; Mike Self of Cherryville, Amanda Gantt and Brian Gardner of Kings Mountain, Brandon Lovelace of Bessemer City.

Through all of the years together Bud and Mallie have never walked alone, for with a great, sustaining love God takes care of His own.

Cynthia Diane Mayes and Mark Paul Davis were married Dec. 26 at 2 p.m. in Oak Grove Baptist Church.

Dr. Ector Lee Hamrick heard the exchange of vows for which music was presented by Annette Ledbetter of Shelby, organist, and Tabitha Evans and Kenny Potter, soloists.

The bride's gown was a formal design of glowing acetate satin and featured a sweetheart neckline with V back and basque waist trimmed with Venise lace. Embroidered appliques, sequins and simulated pearls detailed the close fitting bodice and sleeves. The full skirt extended to form chapel length train. She wore a floral bridal headpiece accented with simulated pearls and a wreath of silk flowers with net veil and blusher. She carried a bouquet of mauve and white roses with baby's breath and white and mauve streamers.

Laura Philbeck of Kings Mountain attended the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Tina Anderson and Candice Carswell of Kings Mountain.

All the attendants wore tea length dresses of mauve satin. White lace covered the front and back bodice with white pearl buttons accenting the front and back. A bow at the waistline and a bustle layered to the hemline enhanced the gowns. They carried white fans covered Think Spring!

Salute To Spring Begins February 27 At Charlotte's Merchandise Mart

When most of us are shoveling snow, worrying about income taxes and bill collectors the folks at Southern Shows, Inc. in Charlotte are planning something much more pleasant — known for 28 years as "The South's Salute to Spring" the show will be held at the Charlotte Merchandise Mart Feb. 27 through March 6.

This year's show, according to Robert E. Zimmerman, one of the event's founders, is going to be "spectacular, and at the same time filled with practical ideas visitors can use in their own homes and gardens."

There will be 18 professionally landscaped gardens, each one filled with spring plants, shrubs and trees. "The gardens," said Zimmerman, "offer homeowners ideas not just for plants but for new kinds of fencing, walkways, patios, French windows, retainer walls and statuary — all the things that add so much to a garden and yet are the extras most of us find difficult to incorporate in our plans."

"What makes the gardens even more attractive," continued Zimmerman, "is that just about every one of them is attached to an exquisite designer room. We find homeowners can relate to both the room and garden when they are combined. After all, that's how most of our homes are designed."

The rooms are created and installed by top interior designers. They use antiques, with the latest trends in home furnishings, the newest colors, fabrics and always unique accessories.

In addition to the gardens and rooms, the show has a huge Orchid Pavilion sponsored by the Piedmont

Carolinas Orchid Society, a Bonsai Pavilion by the Bonsai Society of the Carolinas and a complete Standard Flower Show installed by the Charlotte Council of Garden Clubs.

All the spring flowers are changed half way through the show, so the show is just as fresh the last weekend as it is the first weekend.

An added attraction this year will be a section of the Madurodam, a miniature village in Holland. The exhibit, sponsored by KLM Royal Dutch Airlines and WSOC-TV will be surrounded by Dutch tulips and each of the gardens in the international area will have a European village-scape as its backdrop.

While many visitors come to surround themselves with spring and enjoy the gardens, rooms and special features, others come to shop and plan improvements for inside and outside their homes. The show abounds with horticulture, patio and garden furniture and equipment, sun rooms, greenhouses, swimming pools, seeds, bulbs, crafts and home accessories. And, many of the plants and accessories in the gardens and rooms are also for sale at the close of the show.

Admission is $4.50 at the door and $4.00 in advance for adults, $2.50 for students 6 to 12. Children under 6, excluding groups, are free and adult group rates are available.

Show hours are 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. every day except Sunday, when the hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The 1988 Preview, planned for Feb. 26 from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m., is to benefit Central Piedmont Community College in honor of their 25th an-iversary. Tickets are $20 each, tax deductible, and include entertainment, hors d'oeuvres and an opportunity to be first to see the show.
