crete pond, would be 5 million gallons and cost about $1 million.

The new proposed also includes an upgrading of the electrical system capacity and distribution system and a 50 percent expansion of the Pilot Creek waste treatment plant, which the city is under court order to clean up by 1990.

City Manager George Wood said the water project is being dropped because of its cost and because of more pressing priorities.

The present plant has a capacity for treating 8 million gallons of water per day and normal usage runs about 5½ millions. The additional storage facility for treated water, Wood said, should help the city on days when usage approaches the eight million gallon mark. Wood said that other utility system improvements can't wait and he estimates the city can go for about five years or more before it has to increase the plant's treatment capacity.

THAT WHEREAS, the City Manager for the City of Kings Mountain has reviewed in detail with the City Council the proposed projects to be financed with general obligation bonds of the City, the need for each project, facts showing the amount of bonds proposed is adequate but not excessive for each proposed purpose, matters relating to the debt management policy and the budgetary and fiscal management policies of the City and the estimated increased in rates for the increased debt service requirements resulting from the bonds; and

WHEREAS, this City Council has reviewed the information presented,

BE IT RESOLVED, by the City Council of the City of Kings Mountain as follows:

1. The renovation and expansion, construction and equipping of additional water treatment, storage and distribution facilities to be financed by general obligation bonds of the City of Kings Mountain in an amount not to exceed $3,629,500 is determined to be necessary and expedient.

2. The renovation and expansion, construction and equipping of additional electric system distribution and transmission facilities to be financed by general obligation bonds of the City of Kings Mountain in an amount not to exceed $1,811,500 is determined to be necessary and expedient.

3. The renovation and expansion, construction and equipping of additional sewage treatment and distribution facilities to be financed by general obligation bonds of the City of Kings Mountain not to exceed $3,789,200 is determined to be necessary and expedient.

4. The amount of each of the proposed bond issues is found to be adequate and not excessive for its purposes.

5. The debt management policies of the City of Kings Mountain are found to have been carried out in strict compliance with applicable law.

6. The budgetary and fiscal management policies of the City of Kings Mountain are found to have been carried out in compliance with applicable law.

7. The increase in utility system rates to pay the increased debt service requirements resulting from the bonds is hereby found to be not excessive.

8. The filing of an application with the Local Government Commission for approval of the proposed bonds is hereby approved and confirmed and the City Manager is designated to serve as the representative of the City in connection with the application for approval of the bonds with the Local Government Commission and is authorized to cause an notice of intent to file the application to be published.

'The Nerd' At Gardner-Webb

BOILING SPRINGS -- The Gardner-Webb College Theatre will present the hilariously funny comedy, "The Nerd" by Larry Shue in the Dover Theatre on Oct. 14, 15, 16 and 17.

The play will be presented at 8 p.m. on Friday, Saturday and Monday Oct. 14, 15 and 17 and at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 16. Admission is $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students and senior citizens. Dover Theatre is located on the campus of Gardner-Webb College.

The play is about an aspiring young architect in Terre Haute, Indiana. Willum Cubbert has often told his friends about the debt he owes to Rick Steadman, a fellow ex-GI whom he has never met but who saved his life after he was seriously wounded in Vietnam. He has written to Rick to say that, as long as he is alive, "you will have somebody on Earth who will do anything for you" - so Willum is delighted when Rick shows up unexpectedly at his apartment on the night of his 34th birthday party. But his delight soon fades as it becomes apparent that Rick is a hopeless "nerd" - a bumbling oaf with no social sense, little intelligence and less tact. And Rick stays on and on, his continued presence among Willum and his friends leading to one uproarious incident after another until the normally placid Willum finds himself contemplating violence - a dire development which, happily, is staved off by the surprising "twist" ending of the play.

The play enjoyed a successful Broadway run as did Shue's other well-known smash, "The Foreigner." Variety termed "The Nerd" "...a spring tonic of side brusing laughter."
