School Zones Public Hearing Monday

O'Shields KM Principal Of Year

Glenda O'Shields, principal of Central School, has been selected 1989 Wachovia Principal of the Year for Kings Mountain District Schools in a program co-sponsored by Wachovia Bank and Trust Company and the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction. Announcement was made by Superintendent of Schools, Bob McRae.

Mrs. O'Shields will now move on to competition with other local winners from Region 6. Regional winners will be selected from the state's eight educational regions. From among those eight, three finalists will be selected for an on-site visit, resulting in the selection of the statewide winner.

Mrs. O'Shields has served as Central's principal for the past seven years. She has been involved with teacher effectiveness, assertive discipline, and teacher performance appraisal instrument training for teachers in Kings Mountain District Schools.

In 1984, Mrs. O'Shields was trained by the National Association of Secondary School Principals to be an assessor. In this position, she assesses the entry level administrator for the N.C. State Department of Public Instruction.

This year, she has been actively involved with the Middle School Committee. As a co-chairperson of the committee, she has visited vari-

GLEND A O'SHIELDS

The Kings Mountain Board of Education will hold a public hearing Monday night at 7:30 p.m. at B.N. Barnes Auditorium to give the community an opportunity to discuss the need for re-drawing elementary school attendance lines.

Supt. Bob McRae said citizens who wish to speak will be given an opportunity to speak both to the overall need for making changes, and to any of the possible scenarios that have been proposed to this point, and to present any other viable recommendations they may have.

Citizens wishing to be heard should go to the auditorium early and have their names put on the list of speakers. Each person will be given five minutes to state their comments.

The school board members will listen to the comments, but will not take part in the discussion and will not make any decisions about re-drawing lines. They will gather the information given by citizens and consider it in future decisions which must be made at an open meeting of the board of education.

Re-drawing of attendance lines may be necessary because of the racial imbalance of several schools, particularly East and Bethware. The percentage of black students at East is 56 percent, which is far above the system-wide minority average of about 26 percent. The minority percentage at Bethware is 14 percent, which is far below the system-wide average.

The seven scenarios discussed by the board thus far include:

1 - Shifting students from the Pine Manor area from East to North, and students from between Piedmont Avenue and the Southern Railway tracks from North to East.

2 - Shift the Northwoods and Carolina Garden students to North and North students from between Piedmont and the railroad to East.

3 - Close East School and send East students to North, West and Grover.

4 - Close East and send all East students to North. (This move would require additional buildings at North).

5 - Close both East and West and build one new elementary school to house students from both school zones.

6 - Send Northwoods students to Bethware; North students east of Piedmont to Parker Street to East; Bethware students from Goforth Road, Spectrum

Only God Works Miracles

KM's Brenda Caldwell Returns Home From Taking Cancer Treatment In Greece

The hope of a cure for cancer has drawn numerous Cleveland County people to Athens, Greece. Kings Mountain resident Brenda McDaniel Caldwell, 46, who returned home Thursday, said she would go again but "only God can work miracles."

Brenda and Dwayne Caldwell, who will celebrate their 26th wedding anniversary next month, heard about the unproven treatment from a relative and word spread after Shelbiana Helen Best returned home encouraged with results of the special serum which gave her new hope and revitalization.

"It was like a door opening for me," said Brenda, whose face was radiant as she talked about her faith in God and her visit to Dr. Hariton-Tzannis Alivizatos who claims that cancer is caused by a chemical imbalance in the body and he corrects that imbalance by the serum he injects, which boosts the immune system and helps rid the body of cancer tumors and cells through natural body waste. At the same time, the entire body is rejuvenated, making it generally stronger and more resistant to diseases.

Unlike her friend Mrs. Helen Best, Brenda was not feeling as jubilant on her first couple of days back because she was bothered with irregularity which often times accompanies a colon problem and may have been enhanced by the 19 injections of the serum during the couple's 22-day stay in Athens. BRENDA CALDWELL

Another Local Resident To Go This Weekend

Janet Childers, 27-year-old Kings Mountain woman, will be taking what is probably the most important trip of her life this weekend.

Miss Childers is going to Athens, Greece to take a cancer treatment from Dr. Hariton-Tzannis Alivizatos.

She will be accompanied to Greece by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Childers. Janet and Janette Childers expect to be in Greece for about 21 days but Mr. Childers plans to return to Kings Mountain once the family is located and Janet begins her injections of a special serum.

Miss Childers discovered a lump in her breast five years ago when she was a senior at the University of North Carolina. She has most recently undergone treatment at Duke Hospital.

Numerous cancer patients from the county have gone to Greece to see Dr. Alivizatos who runs a private clinic in his home and for nearly 25 years has administered a secret cancer treatment of his own invention. The established medical community has not recognized the doctor's treatments but some local patients who have been to Greece have been encouraged by the treatments.

Childers has offered to hand-carry with him to Greece blood samples from several cancer patients who have indicated interest in having their blood tested by the doctor.

FUN IN THE ICE - The combination of ice, snow and freezing rain which came to the Kings Mountain area Friday and Saturday wasn't as much as our neighbors in northern counties but it was enough for youngsters to have some fun in. In picture above, Marylee Dilling (front), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Dilling, and Carrie Davenport (back), daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Davenport, have some fun sledding in the Dilling's lawn.

Project Graduation Planned

REV. BOB COLLINS

Volunteers in Cleveland County are making plans for a Project Graduation to be held on Tues., May 30 for graduating seniors at Kings Mountain, Shelby, Burns and Crest high schools.

Project Graduation is an alcohol free/drug free party for seniors on graduation night. The concept began several years ago when a high school in Maine had seven of their graduating seniors killed on graduation night in alcohol-related accidents. Most people have heard about it because of the promotion for Charlotte's Project Graduation the last three years at Carowinds. Theirs has been very successful and now other counties are having their own.

Plans have not yet been finalized but volunteers working for the Cleveland County project hope to secure a site such as the County Fairgrounds for the local party.

Rev. Bob Collins of Kings Mountain met with senior classes of all four county high schools and said he had overwhelming support from the seniors. He surveyed 871 seniors and 820 of them (or 94 percent) said they would participate in the party.

A steering committee has been established and has begun its work to plan Project Graduation. The committee includes students and adults from each of the four schools.

The goals, Rev. Collins said, are:
*To have a place for seniors to go on graduation night that is alcohol and drug free.

*To teach the concept that teens can have a great time without alcohol and drugs.

*To offer a place for seniors who want to party but don't want to face the peer pressure to drink to celebrate their graduation.

*For parents to know that their children are having a good time, drug free.
