GENERATIONS II

Concert Slated Sunday At Second Baptist Church

Generations II, a group which has traveled over 300,000 miles, performing and ministering in over 1,000 appearances via concert halls, Christian dinner clubs, auditoriums, fairs, and church services throughout nine Southern states has reached thousands, young and old, will present a concert Sunday, Sept. 17, at 2 p.m., at Second Baptist Church.

The church is celebrating homecoming and its 74th anniversary. The public is invited.

The manager, Rick Campbell, started the group eight years ago. He formerly sang and was booking manager for the legendary LeFevres of Atlanta, Georgia. This fine lead singer moves his audiences into a state of worship with his dynamic emcee mastery. His compelling touch stirs the hearts of audiences wherever he goes. This has been brought about through an experience of tremendous success and tragic failure. It is this experience and close relationship with the Lord that gave him and the group the undefeatable determination to continue the call that was placed on Rick's life eight years ago and has given Generations II the tremendous success they have experienced in the past few years.

The first tenor and pianist, Larry Brinson, started his Gospel music career at age 15. His unique ability signatures the piano with a style uncombersome yet filled with the highest degree of intensity.

Joyce Perdue, the eminent soprano of Gospel music, headlines the group with the clearest and most exhilarating voice in the nation. A voice full of strength and power yet filled with warmth, tenderness, and purity which relays to the audience her sincere dedication and service to the Lord.

The highlight of any musical organization is the cultivation of its talents to create and nurture a theme which encompasses originality and individuality into a unified emotional art form. The unmistakable ingenuity of lead guitarist, Jay Eanes, produces an unequalled chemistry with Generations II.

The Cookes A Singing Family

Hubert and Jeanette Cooke started singing in 1962 as The Cooke Duet. Each had a red Gibson guitar. They sang together as a duet for a few years then their older son, James, joined them by playing the bass guitar. By this time, they had already recorded nine albums.

When James joined the two, they changed the name to "The Singing Cookes." Later, son, Ron, started playing the keyboards and a third son, Don, began playing the drums.

The Singing Cookes have traveled in all 50 states and also to foreign countries, singing and blessing many people through their ministry in song. They have seen thousands of souls saved through the years. Their records have also been placed in the Library of Congress.

The Cookes have now become two groups. The Singing Cookes and The Cooke Brothers, consisting of James, Ron and Don, along with James' daughter, Tami playing keyboards for the group.

The Cookes acquired a brand new 1989 Prevost bus in April of this year. The new bus is equipped with all the comforts of home including an entertainment center, bathroom, kitchenette, lounge area and sleeping quarters for 13 people. According to Jeanette, she has noticed a "significant decrease in the use of her liniment" since the new seats in the bus are so comfortable and since Hubert is their number one shade tree mechanic, he says, "It's a whiz to keep service."

They are all enjoying the bus and would like to thank all their friends who have bought their tapes through the years that have put them in the new bus to travel for the Lord.

Some of their more familiar songs include, "Nearer To Thee," "There Ain't No Grave," and "Send Your Best Angel For Mama." Along with their many cassettes, they have a video from their 25th Anniversary singing from Knoxville, Tennessee and The Cooke Brothers have a concept video entitled, "Welcome Home Son."

Their newest cassette releases are, "He Has Risen," with the title cut written by Hubert, and The Cooke Brothers, "Straight Ahead."

On September 21, The Singing Cookes will be at Independent Baptist Church in Dallas. The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m.
