

Revival Services End Sunday At Chestnut Ridge Baptist

Our revival at Chestnut Ridge Baptist Church ended Sunday. The visiting pastor, Rev. Herman Thomas, who is retired but presently serving as interim pastor at Highland Baptist Church in Shelby, brought exciting, stirring messages. Although attendance was not what we would have liked in terms of numbers, the revival was fruitful with many re-dedications and three persons receiving Christ as their Saviour. The Sunday night service was set aside for baptism of the three, Terri King, Julie Pruitt and Wendy Blake.

We were very pleased that three of our members who have been sick were able to attend several nights. They were Estelle Hawkins, and Millard and Hester Putman.

The two and three year old Sunday School class was treated to a party Sunday for Todd Jackson, whose birthday was last week. The party was given by Todd's grandmother, Faye Lovelace, who also teaches the tot's class.

Happy second anniversary to Randy and Delores Davis.

Steve Fredell, Classmates Take Trip To Outer Banks

Steve Fredell, son of Dianne and Wayne Fredell, went with his 6th grade class from Tryon School to the Outer Banks for a field trip last week. This was a grand trip for all involved.

April Wilson's mother, Peggy and grandmother, Kathryn Payseur, served cupcakes, chips and cold drinks to her 1st-2nd classroom to celebrate April's birthday last Thursday.

Kathryn Bridges, Marie Neal, Lottie Burton and Frances Wilson paid a surprise visit to Eva Thompson in her new room at the Methodist Home Monday night. They have a beautiful new eight-story building there and have moved all the residents from the
