RICHARD RAY

Funeral services for Richard Douglas Ray, 43, of 116 Forest Drive, Shelby, who died July 9, 1990 at Cleveland Memorial Hospital, will be conducted Thursday at 3 p.m. at Carothers Funeral Home in Mount Holly by Rev. Bill Miller, interment following in Goshen Cemetery.

A Pharr Yarns employee, he was a native of Gaston County, son of the late Jacqueline Ray.

Surviving are his wife, Angela Lyons Ray; son, Matthew Ray; daughters, Mrs. Reba Hawkins of Dallas, Bobbie Jo Ray of McAdenville, Suzanne Ray; sister, Jo Rita McKee of McAdenville; and two grandchildren.

RANDALL HENSLEY

Funeral services for Randall Edward Hensley, 28, of Long Creek Church Road, who died July 10, 1990 at home, will be held Thursday at 11 a.m. at McLean & Sons Funeral Home, interment following in Gaston Memorial Mausoleum.

A self-employed sound technician, he was a native of Norton, Va.

Surviving are his parents, Ronald and Lynda Broach Hensley; sisters, Mrs. Cindy Yeargin of Campobello, S.C., Miss Beth Hensley of LaGrange, Ind.; and grandmother, Mrs. Myrtle Hensley.

SAVANNAH HARRIS

Graveside services for Savannah (Buck) Harris, 66, of 23 Walker Street, who died July 4, 1990, were conducted Friday at 11 a.m. at Mountain Rest Cemetery by Rev. Don Cable.

A native of Gaston County, he was the son of the late Claude A. C. and Carrie Fowler Harris and was a former employee of the City of Kings Mountain. He was a member of Bessemer City Church of God.

Surviving are his son, Steve Harris of Stutgarth, Germany; daughters, Linda Pressley of Brevard and June Clark of Kings Mountain; and sisters, Isabel Day, Katherine Fox, Evelyn Gantt, all of Bessemer City, and Vera Stewart of Clover, S.C.

Jesse Boyd Nicholson, Jr., 32, of 915 Grover Road, who had been waiting for a heart transplant for two years, died July 6, 1990 at Carolina Medical Center.

Death came a day before a benefit concert planned by Nicholson's friends in nine area rock bands at Twilight Club in Gastonia. Instead, the 14-hour concert Saturday was in memory of Nicholson, a musician and Kings Mountain carpenter. The funds will be used to help his family pay medical bills.

Funeral services for Nicholson were held Sunday at 2 p.m. at Harris Chapel. Rev. Jeff Patterson and Rev. Buddy Williams officiated, and interment was in Mountain Rest Cemetery.

A native of Winter Park, Fla., he was the son of Jesse Boyd and Virginia Stiles Nicholson of Kings Mountain. He was a member of Rhema Faith of Shelby.

Surviving, in addition to his parents, are his wife, Lenea Taylor Nicholson; son, Jesse Boyd Nicholson III; brother, Mike Nicholson of Kings Mountain; and sisters, Jackie Summerrow, Toni Jones, Martha Childers, all of Kings Mountain, and Kathy Fowler of Gaffney, S.C.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Jesse Nicholson Jr. would like to express our sincere thanks for all the prayers, cards, flowers, food and loving concern that was shown during our time of sorrow.

neers told us Tuesday that the big demand on the system is the problem and Duke Power hit a new record in electricity use this week, as we did in Kings Mountain," he said.

The weatherman doesn't promise any cooler temperatures the rest of the week. With the enormous strain on the city's two electrical sub-stations, power outages won't go away but citizens can cut back on the load by conserving electricity on a volunteer basis. "The city is trying to do everything to fix what is mechanically wrong but we need to start making volunteer energy conservation measures as far as use of electricity is concerned," said Wood.
