WADE FORD
"You Can Count On WADE."

A tree silhouette against the sky... clouds drifting through the air-common sights. But this tree highlighted by these clouds is dramatic.

Often, it's the combination, the merging of people or things that attracts our attention and excites our imagination.

In our community there are places or worship-churches. Viewed simply as empty buildings, they can seem ordinary. And people in a crowd can often lose their individuality.

But bring together scores of people, united in a common faith, to worship God, and suddenly there's a merging of the human and the Divine that rises above the commonplace.

God and man united in purpose-this is the world's best hope!
