

Betty Gamble, left, and her son, John, share a tender moment at Monday's Sports Hall of Fame banquet. They accepted the induction of their late husband and father, Coach John Gamble.

Toby Williams, one of four inductees into the Kings Mountain Hall of Fame this year, addresses the crowd at Monday night's fourth annual banquet at the Kings Mountain Community Center.

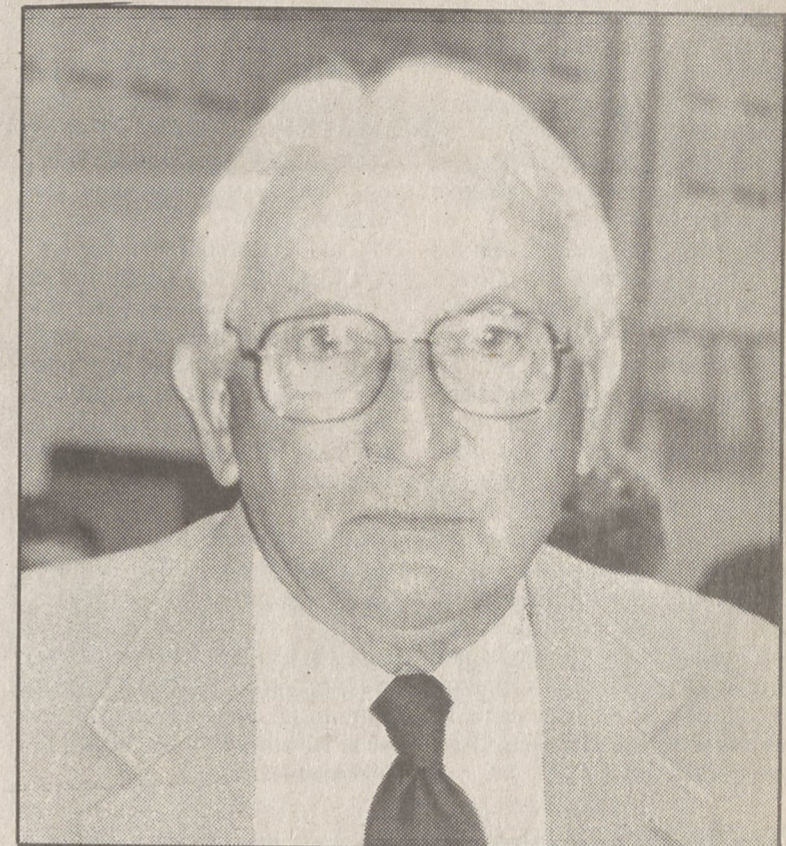

Pat Murphy, left, former KMHS quarterback who was inducted into the Sports Hall of Fame two years ago, meets new inductee Jim Kimmell at Monday night's banquet at the Kings Mountain Community Center.

Mrs. John Gamble Sr. of Miami, Fla., is introduced to the crowd at Monday night's Sports Hall of Fame banquet at the Kings Mountain Community Center.

THE STARS
COME OUT
At KM
Sports Hall Of Fame

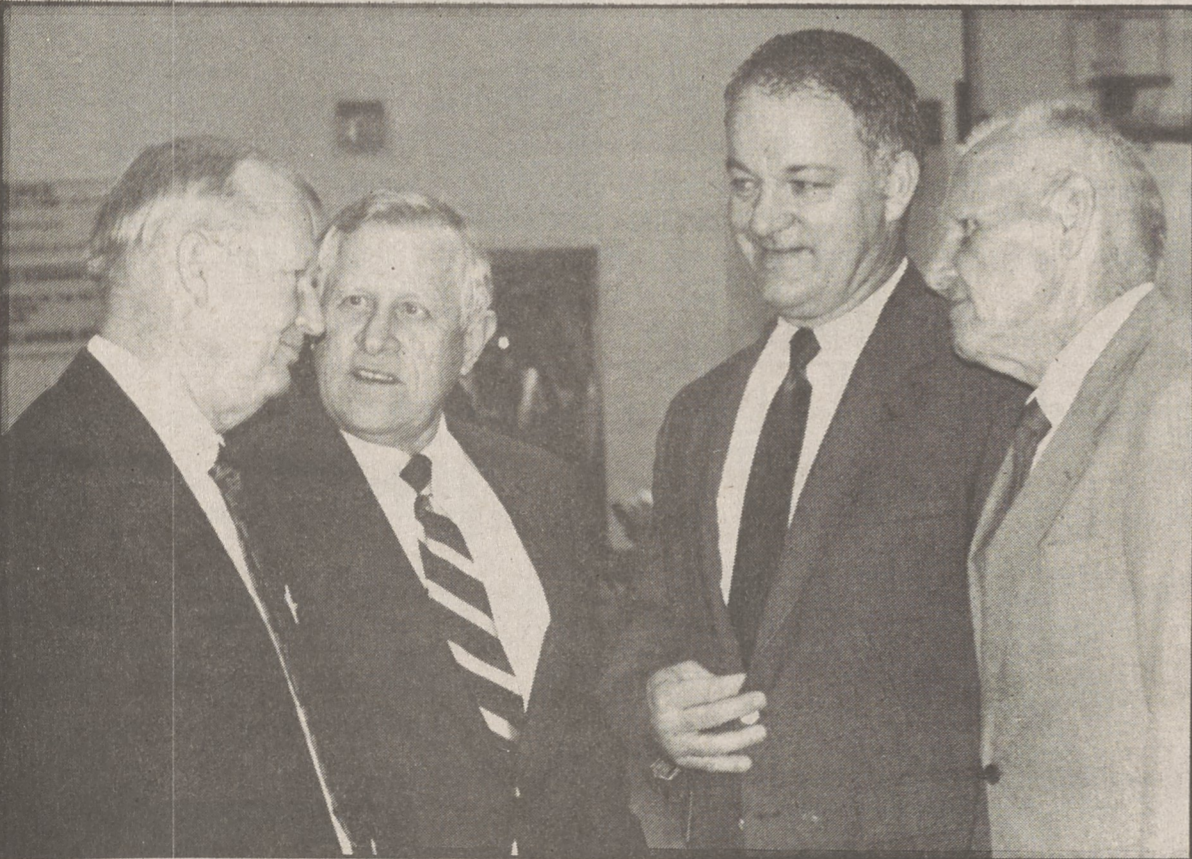

Former professional baseball pitcher Eugene Goforth was at Monday night's Sports Hall of Fame banquet to see his grandson, Brady, and other members of the state championship KMHS golf team receive the Special Achievement Award. Goforth pitched for KM's 1935 championship team and pitched for several years in the St. Louis Cardinals organization.

Ken Baity, left, receives his Hall of Fame plaque from one of his former coaches, Bill Bates, at Monday night's Chamber of Commerce Sports Banquet at the Kings Mountain Community Center.

The Hollifield clan--father Dale, left, and football playing sons Andy, Ryan and Aubrey, left to right, were at Monday's Hall of Fame sports banquet. Dale played at Western Carolina, Andy plays at KMHS, Ryan plays at Appalachian and Aubrey plays at Wake Forest.

Former football coaches Bill Bates, Bob Bush, Jerry Adams and Pride Ratterree talk about old times at Monday night's Hall of Fame banquet at the Kings Mountain Community Center.

Pat Murphy, Mike Huffstickler and Hubert McGinnis, left to right, former football teammates at Kings Mountain High School, chat with Davidson athletic director Terry Holland, right, at Monday's Hall of Fame banquet at the Kings Mountain Community Center.