

Charlie Herndon honored on 50th birthday

Kings Mountain native Charlie Herndon was surprised on his 50th birthday Sunday at a family party at his home in Lugoff, SC.

Attending the party from Kings Mountain were Bobby Herndon, Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Lynch, and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Ayscue. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Maddox of Gastonia.

Herndon is the son of Mrs. Evelena K. Noor and the late William A. Herndon of Kings Mountain. He is married to the former Frances Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Owens of Kings Mountain.

The Herndons have three sons. David Herndon was recently elected president of the student body at Anderson College. A senior majoring in business and communications, he is also vice president of Young Republicans of South Carolina.

Jeff Herndon graduated from Lugoff-Elgin High School in 1990 and has joined his parents in business. He is vice president of Herndon Inc., a commercial landscaping, seeding and mulch contractor.

If Wesley Herndon wins a seat on the Kershaw County school board, the 18-year-old Lugoff-Elgin High School student body president would be the youngest school trustee in the state of South Carolina.

He was a member of the wrestling teams and advanced to the state finals. A recent high school graduate, he plans to attend USC in Columbia, SC in the fall.

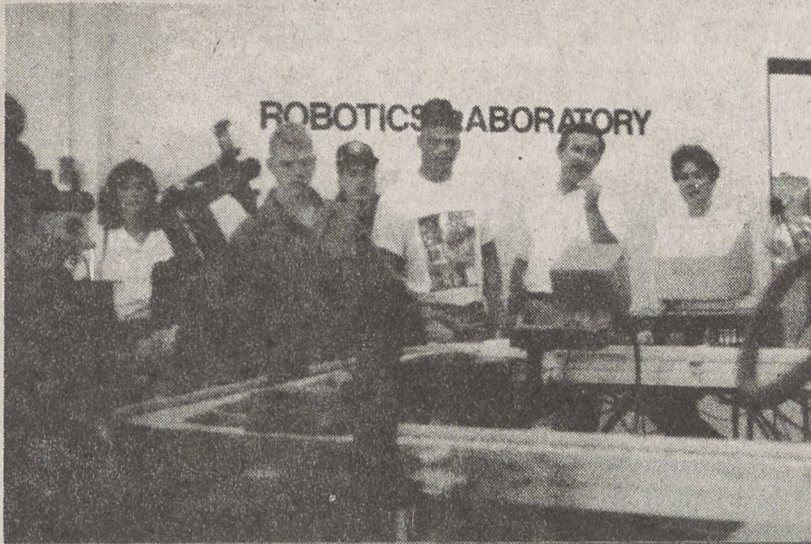

Herndon is one of two announced candidates for the school board. He says he knows his youth will be the first objection of opponents and some voters. But he hopes to turn his recent experiences in the schools to his advantage. Herndon was one of the student leaders who successfully forced school officials to compromise on plans to transfer the school principal until the end of this school year. He also raised complaints about the school board rubber-stamping decisions made by the Kershaw County superintendent.

"I'm youthful and energetic and I'm ready to take on today's issues," said Herndon.

If elected, Herndon would not be the first USC student to serve as a school trustee but he would be the youngest.

Workshop set at KMHS

Would you like to end a boring summer, learn about high-tech careers, go on field trips, hear exciting speakers, experience hands-on classes in electronics, computers, and telecommunications and learn about careers from a woman's perspective?

If your answer is yes, then join the high technology, sex equity/counseling awareness institute to be held at Kings Mountain High School July 13-24.

For the fourth summer, Kings Mountain High School is offering a two-week sex equity/counseling awareness, high-tech workshop which stresses careers in non-traditional fields for young men and women. One of the major purposes of the workshop is to familiarize girls with non-traditional careers that are available to them and to encourage them to consider these careers in the future.

According to Carolyn McWhirter, sex equity coordinator,

"This two week workshop will be packed with exciting activities that will enhance studies during the school year. All the activities will be hands-on and will inform students about high tech careers available to them. In addition, non-traditional opportunities will be stressed for both girls and boys. Although the workshop is mainly for girls, there will be young men enrolled.

Activities to be included in the institute:

Hands on classes, electronics, robotics, some laser, carpentry, telecommunications, higher order thinking skills, and counseling activities. Speakers from the non-traditional technical career fields.

Field trips to local, high tech business/industries.

Field trips to high-tech industry in Asheville and Charlotte.

Any student in grades 9-12 who is interested should contact Mrs. McWhirter at the high school, 734-5647, or 482-4093.
