

City dedicates SCATA system

Kings Mountain city officials dedicated the last of the bond projects Tuesday morning, giving visitors a tour of the $1,870,000 electrical improvements at the Gaston Street Substation and also a look at the new state-of-the-art SCADA system.

Electrical Supt. Jim Maney and SCADA operator Scott Buchanan demonstrated what they called the "heartbeat" of the electrical substation. Maney explained that with SCADA he can monitor the entire city with the system, pinpointing quickly any outages or damage to the electrical transmission system, also gas usage 24 hours a day and regulate the industrial usage.

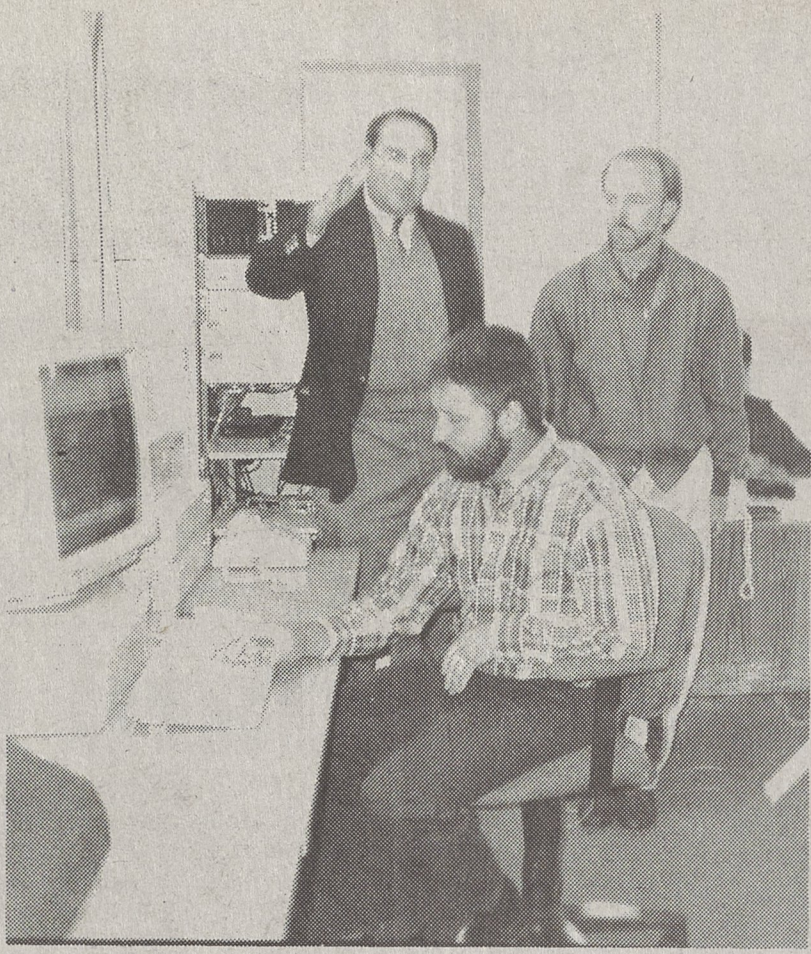

The SCADA system is located on the second floor of the Public Works Building at 1013 North Piedmont Avenue. The master computer, electronic equipment and facilities cost $330,000 and is first of a five phase plan the city wants to initiate. Initially, the SCADA system's operation is limited only to the city's two electrical sub-stations on York Road and Gaston Street.

Community Service Director Tom Howard, who presided at the ribbon cutting at the Gaston substation and at the reception and tour of the SCADA facility, said that primary electrical power lines, poles and transformers have been replaced throughout the city as well as upgrading and converting the system and looping of dead line lines which will immensely improve the reliability of the electrical service to citizens.

Kings Mountain operates two substations. The York Road substation was built as a temporary station in 1973. The electrical improvements bond project converts the temporary station into a permanent substation.

The Gaston Street substation was built in 1963. This station carries 50 percent of the electrical load for the city and is being converted from a 5KV to a 15KV station to match the 15KV York Road station.

One-on-one forum scheduled Tuesday

Supt. Dr. Bob McRae will meet one-on-one with parents Tuesday night in a forum at 7 p.m. at Kings Mountain Middle School Cafeteria.

The meeting, according to McRae, is designed to give parents an opportunity to sit down with him and talk about the Kings Mountain school system.

"While it is not designed at this time to discuss individual concerns which ought to be brought to the attention of teachers or principals, it will be an opportunity for them to ask questions, receive information and give opinions about more general issues," he said.

The forum is being held as a part of Parent Involvement Week activities.

Monday night McRae met with principals, PTO officials and representatives from each school at Bethware School for supper.

The 35 people looked at school fund-raising and how changes can be made to address the problem of door to door sales by kids and what Board of Education Chairman

Ronnie Hawkins called "glorified fund raising."

Members of the Board of Education were invited as guests of the group.

Dr. Jane King, Dr. Larry Allen, and Ronnie Wilson, all assistant superintendents in charge of specific programs, joined the discussion group.

CARD OF THANKS

To the faculty and students of KMHS, KM Middle School and East Elementary School, we the family of Cory Leach would like to say thanks so much for the cards, food, floral arrangements and especially the prayers at the loss of our loved one. We don't have the words to express our feelings to all of you. We just thank God every day for friends like you. We felt so close to you during those sad times as if you were one of us. It made us feel like we were not alone dealing with our loss, that you were hurting too. May God bless you all and we'll never forget your compassion.

Goldie, Cheryl, Lekeshia, and Sonya Leach and Ladricus Gingles.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Bill Sellers wish to thank Dr. Walker, Dr. Barringer, local churches, the Dixon Community, and especially the Grover Rescue Squad, for their many kindnesses at the death of our loved one.
