

Angel tree at KM Hospital

The Angel Tree at Kings Mountain Hospital is now on display for its second Christmas.

Located in the Outpatient Surgery Department of the hospital, the tree looks like a traditional Christmas tree but instead of being decorated with ornaments it is covered with angels, each bearing the name, age, wants and needs of area children. The children's names are supplied by Social Services.

Hospital staff are encouraged to take an angel with a child's name on it and return a gift addressed to that child. On December 18, the presents will be picked up by a Social Services employee and distributed to the children.

This year's tree was covered with 137 angels at the beginning. These angels have been disappearing with each passing day and all are expected to be gone soon, insuring a Merry Christmas for all those special "angels."

Pat Schronce, R.N. and Avis Morrow, L.P.N., staff nurses in the Outpatient Surgery Department, are both participating in the angel tree project for the second year. Both say they are happy to help these children in need have a good Christmas.

Morrow said, "The Angel Tree gives all the children the opportunity to be happy this Christmas, just like our own kids will enjoy it."

Schronce is also glad to do her part and says, "I always look forward to shopping for these presents. Last year when I did this was one of the nicest shopping experiences we had. My husband and I enjoyed it so much."

The Angel Tree at Kings Mountain Hospital helps many less fortunate children in the community have a merry Christmas.

Bazaar, bake sale set in Grover

GROVER - A Christmas bazaar and bake sale will be sponsored by Grover Woman's Club Saturday at Grover Rescue Squad Building. Crafts, ham biscuits, coffee, and baked goods will be available at 10 a.m.

Proceeds will benefit special projects of the club.

Bloodmobile visit December 18

The Kings Mountain Herald will sponsor a visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile December 18 at First Baptist Church.

Donors will be processed from noon until 5 p.m.

Free holiday treats will be provided by Quality Sandwich Company, Town and Country BBQ and McDonald's.

Goal of the visit is 125 pints of blood.

American Red Cross officials point out that blood is badly needed at the holiday season due to increased traffic accidents.

A Red Cross staff nurse will be available to answer eligibility questions 15-30 minutes prior to the start of the bloodmobile. You may also call a donor counselor at the Blood Center's toll-free number 1-800-822-7631 extension 313, 212, or 463 regarding eligibility or further information.
