Slide lecture planned at Shelby Arts Council

The Cleveland County Arts Council and the Shelby Art League are co-sponsoring a slide lecture at the Arts Council, 111 South Washington Street, Shelby, on Tuesday, March 15 at 7 p.m. The presentation will be made by Robert L. Decker, a Cleveland County outreach volunteer for the North Carolina Museum of Art.

His talk will focus on the exhibition "A Gift to America: Masterpieces of European Painting from the Samuel H. Kress Collection," which will be on view at the Museum through April 24.

The exhibition features 55 spectacular 13th-19th century European masterpieces by such distinguished artists as Titian, El Greco, Rubens, Van Dyck, Tiepolo, and many others - paintings borrowed from 16 museums across the country and the Louvre in Paris. More than 3,000 works of art were donated to 96 museums, universities, and other institutions across the nation by Samuel H. Kress, a self-made millionaire and avid art collector who founded the S.H. Kress and Co. five-and-dime stores.

In 1947, the North Carolina General Assembly appropriated $1 million for the purchase of works of art to establish a state art collection; this appropriation was contingent on a matching gift from Kress, who agreed to donate $1 million in works of art. When handed over to the Museum in 1960, Kress's gift of 75 paintings and sculpture was actually valued at more than $2 million. The Kress bequest together with the works of art purchased with the General Assembly's appropriation make up the core of what is today the finest art collection in the southeastern United States.
