Family Outings set at First BC

Have you ever planned the perfect vacation for your family only to see those plans end in chaos? That idea is the backdrop for the new production, "Family Outings," which will be presented this weekend by the Kingdom Players Drama team of First Baptist Church, Kings Mountain.

Jim Bailey decides to take his family on a family outing to resolve conflicts and create unity in his family. His outing consists of visiting a newly purchased sight-unseen cabin and unbeknownst to the rest of the family, that's when the problems really begin.

The community is encouraged to join this outing to view the troubles facing families today and hopefully find some solutions. The production is filled with laughter, tears, and wonderful songs. It marks the first attempt at directing by a former Kingdom player, Greg Williams. Williams is a recent graduate of Liberty University and was involved with performing groups while in college.

Author Paul McCusker says of the musical, "...my desire was to write a program that took an uncompromising look at the problems that can tear a family apart and the work it takes to hold it together. No pat answers, no pie-in-the-sky solutions. No cute bows tying everything up at the end. I wanted the hard realities of life combined with the hope of personal change only Christ can bring through obedient hearts. Easy to say, harder to do. But that's the challenge for all of us."

"Family Outings" will be performed in the fellowship hall on Saturday and Sunday at 7 p.m. The performance is free, but a love offering will be received to help with expenses. Call 739-3651 for information.

Stalcup's honored by congregation

Rev. and Mrs. Oscar Stalcup were honored for their 13 years of service to Kings Mountain's Foursquare Gospel Church following worship services Sunday morning.

The Stalcup's were guests of honor at a church luncheon in the fellowship hall. They were also given flowers and a love offering.

"I am not superstitious," Rev. Stalcup said, "but I have stated to the church and I state publicly that I am glad the 13th year is over. It has been one of the most challenging and difficult years I have experienced in my ministry."

The entire congregation gathered at the altar at the close of the worship service and pledged their commitment to God and each other as they look toward a challenging 1994.

"We are very grateful to the congregation for their support, backing and love through the years," Rev. Stalcup said. "The congregation is the wind beneath my wings and has kept me flying and kept us in the ministry these past 13 years."

Christian magician to perform at KMHS

Macedonia Baptist Church of Kings Mountain is sponsor a fantastic show of illusion and magic by William Stogner Ministries of Burlington Saturday, March 19 at 7:30 p.m. at Barnes Auditorium.

There will be lots of laughter, audience participation, illusions and wholesome humor.

Stogner's show has great appeal to people of all ages, and families, youth and children are invited to attend.

A $3 donation will be collected at the door to cover Stogner's expenses and the cost of renting the auditorium.

Pastor, layman attend meeting

Rev. Oscar Stalcup and Jerry Facemyer of the Kings Mountain Foursquare Gospel Church competed on the winning team in a recent Captain's Choice Golf Tournament held at Myrtlewood Pine Hills during a leadership conference for pastors and laymen in the International Church of the Foursquare Gospel at Myrtle Beach, S.C.

The team also included Glenn Burris Jr., who is the southeast district director of Foursquare Baptist churches, and his son, Josh Burris. Ninety golfers participated.
