School Lunch Week planned

"Shape Your Future" is the theme for the 1994 National School Lunch Week Celebration October 10-14. Kings Mountain District Schools will join in the celebration by inviting parents to eat lunch with their students.

The American School Food Service Association sponsors the celebration annually. This year's theme promotes the importance of offering choices to meet students' diverse needs and ethnic interests.

The school lunch menus also emphasize the Dietary Guidelines for Americans, which include eating a variety of foods, maintaining healthful weight, choosing a diet low in fat, saturated fat, and cholesterol, choosing a diet with plenty of vegetables, fruits, and grain products, and using sugars, salt and sodium only in moderation.

Individual schools reduce fat in menus by reducing the use of butter, cream hydrogenated margarine, shortening and tropical oils in foods made with such products; serving more lower fat meats such as chicken and turkey; offering lowfat dairy products; reducing sugar by serving more fresh fruits or those packed in natural juices or light syrup; and making available a greater variety of foods by offering daily menu choices.

DOCTOR

A native of Michigan, Minor said he enlisted in Uncle Sam's Army when he was too young and was sent home until he reached the age of 18 and served in the Korean Conflict.

His flying missions have taken him, not only as a senior flight surgeon to Saudi Arabia and Desert Storm, but to help clean up from Hurricane Andrew and airplane crashes in this country.

Minor said his dream as a child of six was to help care for the sick but he was unable to afford medical school until later in life. After graduating from college, he worked with the welfare program in Michigan for a number of years.

Minor said his sense of humor and attitude helped him enjoy himself in the tents of Saudi Arabia where he met soldiers who didn't speak his language.

"Good health has a lot to do with attitude," he said.
