RAY McKENNEY

Hats Off to the Class of 1995

Today's graduates. Tomorrow's leaders.
With my highest regards.

Congratulations
Are Now In Order

Dear Graduates,

All of you are about to open a new chapter in your lives. You will go where you've never been and see things you could never have imagined. An entire world, perhaps even a universe, is open to you.

There is just one person that can stop you from doing anything you want to do, and that person is you.

Someone once said your greatest power is the power to choose. You have the ability to choose your thoughts, your actions and your path to either success or failure.

There can be stumbling blocks, of course, but they are barriers only if you allow them to be.

Drug and alcohol abuse is the number one enemy of success among young people. The use of these substances will rob you of ambition, enthusiasm and your very life's blood.

The greatest single cause for the use of drug and alcohol is peer pressure. Don't participate just because your friends are doing it. Instead of being a follower be a leader. It takes a stronger person to lead rather than follow, but remember, you can choose the course you wish to pursue. When you follow, you allow others to do your choosing.

If I could offer one piece of advice to any young person it would be continue your education until you are satisfied with your self development.

Your education to this point has prepared you to step up to the next learning level. It is important that you take that step now. To delay will make it that much harder later on. If you cannot go to college full time right now, then take a course or two at one of the fine community colleges in the area, just to keep your hand in. Any adult who has returned to school after many years away from the books will tell you that learning to study again was a chore.

Aim high. That's an old cliché but nobody ever became a success by aiming low.

In summation, stay away from those activities that would deter your full development as a useful citizen to yourself and the community at large and continue your education as long as you can, or at least as long as you deem it necessary.

Be a leader and don't be afraid to seek a high station in life. Remember, nobody can stop you except you.

Ray McKenney
Sincerely,
Ray McKenney
