Tree planted at City Hall to remember Oklahoma victims

The Oklahoma state tree in the center of the lawn at City Hall was characterized as a symbol of life by Rev. Ron Caulder, pastor of Oak Grove Baptist Church, who formally dedicated the Redbud Friday to the memory of the victims of the April bombing of the Oklahoma City Federal Office building.

"As we reflect and remember the tragedy of Oklahoma City we are reminded of the evil of the world we live in and the spirit of love in which we reach out to express our concern," said Caulder.

The Parks & Recreation Department, assisted by Human Services Director Winston Bagwell, arranged the program as a highlight of a safety celebration and pre-Memorial Day picnic in which numerous employees won awards.

The tree was donated by Shagreen Nursery in Shelby.

Director of Utilities Jimmy Maney won the big prize, a day off, for his prize winning safety slogan, "Let's Not Meet By Accident."

The 160-plus employees munched hotdogs and all the trimmings for two hours in the shade of trees on a hot summer day. A big tent was set up as an entertainment center where city employee Jeff Putnam and his wife, Sharon, and WKMT personality Tommy Faille entertained.

The top safety awards went to:

Felicia Dawn Davis was 1995 Junior Marshal

Felicia Dawn Davis was a junior marshal at the Kings Mountain High School 1995 commencement exercises Friday. Her name was inadvertently omitted from the list of junior marshals published in last week's Herald. Miss Davis ranks No. 6 academically in the junior class.

Kings Mountain Police Department, Outstanding Community Service.

Parks & Recreation and Mountain Rest Cemetery staffs, most improved.

Extra Mile Awards to Electric Utilities Department, Jeff Putnam, Fire Chief Frank Burns and Water Supt. Walt Ollis.

Pacemakers for Excellence Awards to the Utilities Department, Kings Mountain Fire Department and Public Works Department.

Adult and First Aid awards went to: Scott Buchanan, Richard Chapman, Nickey Hendrick, John Houser, Caswell Roddy, Eugene Waldroup, Timmy Adams and Bob Boles, Electric; Kenny Downey, Lewis Messick, Kim Moss and Tony Brooks, Water; John Clemmer, Ricky Putnam and Jeff Hall and Lee Perry, Gas;

Also: Mattie Scoggins, Lori Hall and Donna Hulsey, Finance; Marilyn Sellers and Winston Bagley, Administration; Sharon Eaker, Senior Center; John Forrest and Jeanette Ross, Parks & Recreation; Janet Hayes, Police; Bill McMurray, Arshell Sanders and Henry Spangler, Public Works; Ricky Marr, Cemetery; and Beverly Moschler, Library.
