Helen Good celebrates 92nd birthday

Helen Wise Good, 92, celebrated her birthday Saturday with family and friends at White Oak Manor in Kings Mountain.

Widow of Paul Good of Shelby, Mrs. Good entered the facility in July after being an active participant in the Life Enrichment Center at Shelby for two years.

Her daughter, Elizabeth Good, hosted the 2-4 p.m. drop-in. The refreshment table in the Day Room was decorated in the Fall motif. A decorated birthday cake was cut and served by Helen and Bobby Ayscue, who catered the party for 21 guests.

A native of Chester County, SC, Mrs. Good has been a Shelby resident all her married life. During the war years she worked on an assembly line at a Charlotte factory making bullets. She has two daughters, the late Mary Jo Schaberg and Elizabeth Good. She is a member of Shelby Presbyterian Church.

Special guests included Mrs. Good's sister, Margaret Wilkes of Chester, SC; her sister-in-law, Zera Wise of Chester; her nieces and nephews, Nita and D. W. Cox and Manning Wise of Chester, SC and Brenda and Ted Alexander of Charlotte; and her great-niece and nephew, Sheila and Jackie Grant and daughter, Shannon, of Chester.

Also attending the party were Letha Stewart, Alma Sellers and Libby Schroder.

Mrs. Good's grandson, Bertie Schaberg Jr., his wife and their two daughters were unable to come from Michigan for the party.

Wares announce arrival of Hunter Lee Ware

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ware of Denver announce the arrival of their second son, Hunter Lee Ware, October 15, 1995, Iredell Memorial Hospital, Statesville.

The baby weighed nine pounds, three and one-half ounces. He has an older brother, Austin Paul Ware, 17 months.

Grandparents are Mike and Shirley Ware and Darrell and Shirley Austin of Kings Mountain.

Great-grandparents are Mrs. Lois Falls of Kings Mountain and Mrs. Viola Walker of Gastonia.

Mrs. Ware is the former Amy Austin.
