'Bonecrusher' Postell wins super heavyweight title

Tim "The Bonecrusher" Postell of Kings Mountain won the Carolina Martial Arts Association's super heavyweight title belt at a full contact karate contest last weekend in Gastonia.

The 281-pound Postell defeated John "The Eliminator" Rogers on a second round TKO. Postell and Rogers had met before in a Kings Mountain tough man contest where Postell won on a second round TKO.

Rogers wanted a second shot at Postell so the two were scheduled to compete for the super heavyweight title, which was open, as the feature match of the full contact karate contest.

"Rogers trained hard, and I give him a lot of credit for putting up a good fight," Postell said.

Postell started his training at Eng School of Self-Defense in Kings Mountain, and gave much of the credit for his success to the school. But he now trains at home with his brother-in-law, Dennis Gomez, and his friend, David Eaves.
