NALC food drive Saturday, May 11

The National Association of Letter Carriers Food Drive, the world's largest one-day food drive, will be held Saturday, May 11.

The Postal Service letter carrier will pick up food for the local food bank. The nationwide effort fills local food bank pantries through the summer months when levels are traditionally low.

"Many families, seniors, and individuals depend on food banks to help put meals on the table," said KM Postmaster Bob Howard. "On Saturday, May 11, everyone will have a chance to help keep the food connection operating through the summer by leaving non-perishable food donations in a bag in their mailbox. The letter carrier will deliver it to the local food bank."

Howard said last year's effort totaled more than 44 million pounds of food and was an overwhelming success.

"We anticipate even greater success in this year's drive," he said. "Donating has never been easier."
