AMANDA JONES Scholarship to Amanda Jones

Amanda Jones, Kings Mountain High School senior and daughter of Alan and Wanda Jones, has received an $8,000 academic scholarship from Alloys International Inc.

Jones plans to study pediatric nursing.

Amanda's father is plant engineer at the Inco Alloys Welding Products Company division of Inco Alloys in Newton. Alloys presented three four year $2,000 scholarships this year to outstanding senior students who are children of employees and retirees. The awards are based on grades, college entrance exam scores, essay writing quality, character and extracurricular and community activities.

This is the 40th year that Inco Alloys has awarded scholarships. Inco Alloys is the world's leading producer of high-performance alloys, with manufacturing facilities in the U.S. and Europe.

Anthony attends NCCAT Seminar

Janet B. Anthony, a kindergarten teacher at Bethware School, recently attended a seminar at the North Carolina Center for the Advancement of Teaching.

Anthony was one of 22 North Carolina teachers participating in "Appalachian Spring Wildflowers" April 22-26.

NCCAT, a unit of The University of North Carolina, provides a year-round series of interdisciplinary seminars and other programs dedicated to advancing the art and profession of teaching. Mary Jo Utley is director.
