Kidney patients treated to cookout

Kidney disease patients and their families enjoyed a cookout recently at the patient support center of the Cleveland/Rutherford Kidney Association. Guests were served hot dogs, hamburgers, a homemade desserts donated by the association's CakeBakers Club.

After dinner, everyone played bingo for donated prizes such as jewelry, floral arrangements, hats, pictures, dishes and more. Volunteers Jimmy Grigg, Kathy Grigg, Don Roberts, and R.G. Ledorf called out bingo numbers.

Other volunteers helping with the event were Blanche and Jim Grigg Sr., Martha McClure, Jane Ingle, Ann and Everett Hames, Linda and Larry Petty, Elwyn and Ophelia McCraw, Colleen Ellenburg, Louise Dubesko, Antha Brackett and Hazel Canipe. The Big Bingo winners were Charles Collins, Colleen Ellenburg, Fred Smith, Mary Camp and John Coates.

The CRKA schedules many recreation activities for patients. In addition to bingo games, they distribute small gifts to dialysis patients for holidays, sponsor a huge Christmas party and a bus trip to McAdenville to see the Christmas lights, compliments of White Plains Baptist Church.

"Living with kidney disease is a traumatic adjustment," said Margaret Ledorf, executive director. "When we first began the association, many families were splitting up. Since then, we have helped lighten some of the loads associated with dialysis and transplant. We rarely see a family splitting up anymore. Our clients have the support and education that we didn't have when Renee was on dialysis," she said, referring to her daughter who now has her father's kidney.

For more information about CRKA and its services, call 481-9535 or go by or write the patient support center at 230 North Post Road, Shelby, NC 28150.
