KM students in All-State orchestra

Four Kings Mountain High School (KMHS) Students participated in the "1996 North Carolina All State Honors Orchestra" November 8 - 10. The three day clinic ended with a public concert at the Steven Center for Performing Arts in Winston Salem. The following students participated: Emily Anthony (French Horn), Katie Rountree (Bassoon), Paul Johnsonbaugh (Trombone) and Joe Page (Tympani). The conductor was Anthony Elliot, faculty member of The Aspen Music Festival and Music Professor at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Over 40 North Carolina schools were represented at this years NCMEA Honors Orchestra.

All members of the KMHS Band are still involved in Marching Band performances and look forward to two Christmas parades, South Central District All State Band Clinic and Blazer Band auditions. KMHS Bands prepare for the annual Winter Concert, which will be held on December 12, at 7:30pm in the Baine Auditorium. The concert is free and open to the public.

CHERYL FISHER

Fisher KMHS Student of the Month

By: DAWN M SWIFT

It's your senior year of high school. Like any high school student you have aspirations for your future. Do you take a job at the local mill, or work for a burger joint? Is this all there is to look forward to in the '90s? Not for this Kings Mountain High School Student of the Month, Cheryl Fisher.

The above description, is anything but an accurate description of Cheryl Fisher, a senior at KMHS. Fisher's teachers praise her for "an excellent attitude," according to French Teacher Carol Ann Peeler. The problems in the job market do not discourage Fisher. This Kings Mountain native, is very active in her community. An honor roll student, Fisher is a member of KMHS's National Honor Society (NHS), Beta, Future Teachers of America (FTA), and French club. Fisher is Vice President of the FTA, and serves as the Business Editor of the KMHS Yearbook. Fisher is a tutor at North Elementary School as well.

Sally Hendricks (Math Teacher) hails Fisher for being, "Very organized, always willing to help and very reliable."

Coming from a family of teachers, Fisher says, "I've always wanted to be a teacher. It's really neat. I like being noticed by kids in town, and when they hug you and say 'I love you.'"

English Teacher, Betsy Wells brags, "[Fisher] is a delight to teach. Always pleasant, congenial, I'm delighted she's interested in teaching as an occupation."

Fisher has a twin sister and says, "we look the same (more different now), but we are different people. It's really neat to have someone so close. It is something to be thankful for."

Future plans include attending school with her older brother, and inspiration, at Appalachian State University. "He is someone to look up to. He's a good guy." She is working towards receiving a Teaching Fellows scholarship, and has already secured a $2000, per year, Challenge Scholarship.

Out-of-School activities include, swimming, babysitting, and attending church activities.

"I have been on mission trips to Canada, New Orleans and Mobile, Alabama. My favorite was Canada."

Being picked as Student-of-the-Month, "surprised" Fisher. "I'm not competitive. I won't fight for something [awards]."

Public hearing set on zoning ordinance

City Council will hold a public hearing on a new zoning ordinance December 10.

The Planning and Zoning Board gave final approval to the ordinance after a review Tuesday night.

Planning director Steve Killian said the ordinance text will be changed but there will be no changes to the zoning map.
