

Kings Mountain Police Report

Fight at school ends in arrests

A fight between two female students at Kings Mountain High School March 11 resulted in the arrest of both students.

Crystal Mauney Perez, 19, of 114-15 Yarboro Rd., and a 16-year-old student were charged with disorderly conduct by Ptl. Chris Daves, the school's resource officer for the Kings Mountain Police Department.

Daves said the two students were engaged in a verbal altercation that included fighting with fist and feet.

Under school policy, the two students were also suspended.

Ptl. BRENT HARP

Harp moves up to KMPD Patrol

"Police work opens your eyes to what's going on in the world," says Ptl. Brent Harp, one of the newest patrol officers at Kings Mountain Police Department.

Harp, 30, says working a real job in law enforcement is much different from watching police television shows.

Harp said he learned firsthand about law enforcement when he used to ride patrol with his brother-in-law, Chris Smith, in the Gastonia Police Department and then later as a Reserve policeman with KMPD.

"I admire Chris, who works for Gastonia PD, and my brother-in-law Steve Smith, who works with the Cleveland County Sheriff's Department, for their dedication and I decided to change careers and completed rookie school at Gaston College," he said.

Harp became a reserve policeman in Kings Mountain in November 1995 and a full time officer February 26. He is a member of C Squad which also includes Patrolmen Andy Berry, Steven Skinner and Chris Moore and dispatcher Diane Whetstone.

Harp was in the printing business for a number of years, running a four-color press at Revere Printing in Shelby and at Triple D Printing. A 1985 graduate of Shelby High School, he is the son of Allen and Judy Harp of Shelby.

Harp is married to Teresa Smith Harp. He has two stepdaughters, Heather Lemmons, 16, and Haley Lemmons, 10. They are members of Putnam Memorial Baptist Church in Shelby. Family activities include trips to the beach.

Harp recommends police work as a rewarding career for young people.

"I have been in training with Ptl. Andy Berry and he's good at what he does and I have appreciated working with all our dedicated officers here in Kings Mountain," he said.

Police Chief Bob Hayes said Harp's experience in Reserves is of benefit to him and any new officer who joins the force. "Brent learned the street locations and he's a good officer," said Hayes.
