Marker dedicated at Hambright grave

The descendants of Col. Frederick Hambright and Shiloh Presbyterian Church of Grover Sunday held an unveiling and dedication ceremony for a new historical marker at the grave of Battle of Kings Mountain hero Col. Frederick Hambright.

The gravesite is located in the old Shiloh Cemetery, located on Elm Road near Grover.

The marker was financed by funds which were collected for the Col. Frederick Hambright Historical marker through the sale of the Hambright afghan and contributions.

Additional afghans have been ordered and can be purchased for $50.40. Mail checks to Fudora Anne Ratcliffe, P.O. Box 1547, Pinehurst, NC 28370-1547 or call (910) 295-3635.

The old Shiloh Cemetery was established in 1780 and contains the remains of the earliest settlers from nearby communities, and their descendants, in addition to Revolutionary War and Civil War heroes and a State Senator.

Family names represented by markers are Christmas, Crow, Dillingham, Dover, Ettress, Ethers, Gilfillan, Gordon, Hambright, Hardin, Harry, Holmes, Howser, McCarter, Morrow, Patterson, Price, Randall, Reynolds, Sellers, and Williams.

Many of the stones were obtained from the nearby Kings Mountain quarry and carved by stonemasons William and James Crawford and James Caveny.

Revolutionary War heroes buried at the cemetery include Col. Hambright, Commander at the Battle of Kings Mountain; William Patterson, killed October 7, 1780; and Patterson brothers Arthur Jr. and Thomas; Indian Wars, Major Fred Hambright Jr.; War of 1812, John Hambright; Civil War, Charles H. Christmas, killed in Charleston, SC in 1862, and Joseph Ettress; and Lincoln County State Senators John B. Harry (1835).

Mrs. Dellinger and her husband have restored five log cabins on their property. The first one belonged to Ann Jenkins Carpenter, a granddaughter of Colonel Hambright.

Melissa A. Magee

In the Courtroom, Experience Matters.

Every four years, you elect District Court Judges who must enforce our laws fairly and accurately. The office demands a thorough knowledge of the law, common sense and experience.

During the past eight years, I have presided over domestic, criminal, juvenile and civil cases in Gaston County. I must constantly research and study changes in the law so I can make the best judgements. I believe this is a duty that I owe the citizens of Gaston County and one which I take very seriously. I have enjoyed serving the last eight years and ask for your vote on November 7.
