RSC

"R-S Central is a lot like Burns," says KM Coach Dave Farquharson. "They don't have the luxury that we have of having 40 kids. Their numbers are small, but they play good, hard football and sometimes that's the best scenario."

"They're not a bad throwing team," he added. "They can hurt you throwing the ball, and they've also got some speed. Their quarterback is pretty good."

Farquharson's main goal this week may not be so much in containing Ogle, but in getting his team re-focused. Because of a rash of injuries and disciplinary problems, the first-year coach is looking at a number of personnel changes.

First off, the Mountaineers must come up with a new quarterback to replace All-Conference senior Matt Ash, the team's second leading rusher, who sprained a shoulder joint in last week's game.

BURNS

From 8A

second half when KM was trailing 17-7, put some spark into the offense, going 21 yards around end as the Mountaineers worked the ball into Burns territory. But the Bulldog defense rose to the occasion and stopped a KM fourth down attempt at the 37.

On their next possession, Burns linebacker Rocky Lawrence stripped the ball from Ash at the KM 39, and picked it up and rambled to the three yard line to set up Burns' clinching TD, a three-yard run by sophomore Nelson Woods, who finished the game with 136 yards rushing and three TDs.

Woods had scored on a seven-yard run in the first quarter for a 7-0 Burns lead, and later added a two-yard TD run.

Kings Mountain tied the score briefly on an 11-yard run by Ash in the second period, but Burns sophomore Calvin Miller returned the ensuing kickoff 70 yards to the KM 20 to set up Woods' second TD.

Burns kicker Cline Ingle then became a very important part of the Burns' upset effort. He nailed a 39-yard field goal with 40 seconds left in the half to put the Bulldogs on top 17-7, and all of his kickoffs went into the end zone, resulting in the Mountaineers having to start their drives at the 20 yard line.

Despite turning the ball over on half of their possessions, the Mountaineers were in scoring range on two other occasions. An 80-yard pass reception by Farquharson has three options. He can start senior Renaldo Tate, who started the first half last week; call freshman Derek Smith off the JV team; or move Tyler Adams, who has seen action at wide receiver and running back, to quarterback.

"We'll take a look at all of that this week," Farquharson said. "We're going to have to shore up our starting quarterback and back-up quarterback."

Ash is expected to miss the next two games.

Also on the injured list are starting defensive standouts Daniel Mason (dislocated shoulder) and Justin Early (knee).

All-Conference offensive lineman Javorous Wilson has missed the last two games, and will likely miss the next two. He will be undergoing a heart catheterization later in the week, but according to Farquharson if all goes well "he should feel like a million bucks when he walks out of the hospital" and be able to play the following week.

Joe Leach in the first half gave the Mounties a first down at the Burns five, but the Mounties missed a short field goal attempt.

A 47-yard option keeper off the right side by Ash gave the Mounties a first down at the Burns 14 with 2:28 remaining in the third quarter. But Ash suffered a shoulder injury on the play, and on the next play the Mounties fumbled the ball.

That would be the final time the Mountaineers touched the football, as the Bulldogs used the inside running of Woods, Tjuan Griggs, Calvin Bostic and Lawrence to hold onto the football for the final 14 minutes of play.

"Between our penalties and turnovers, we basically put Burns in a position to win the game," Farquharson said. "They're a good enough ball team that, if you do that, they're more than capable of taking advantage of it."

"We did not carry out our blocking assignments, and we lacked intensity on both sides of the football."

Farquharson wouldn't use the disciplinary action and the mounting injury problems as excuses.

"The disciplinary action that took place were some individual situations where people didn't behave in the school building," Farquharson said. "It's one of those situations that you have to have rules and you have to have consequences. If football means enough to you you'll put the team first and do what you're supposed to do. This team has to realize that you have to make adjustments and move on."

"The adjustments we made were good, we just were not focused and we were not intense and, by no means were we ready to play football."

"We had a good week of practice. Whether homecoming was a distraction, I don't know. If they felt like Burns was just not going to show up to play, I don't know. But I do know from watching films and everything else that we just did not play like we're capable of playing."

JVs beat Burns, host R-S tonight

Kings Mountain High's JV football team ran its record to 3-3 Thursday night with an 18-13 victory over Burns.

Montrell Banks scored from 10 yards out to cap an 80-yard drive; Grayling Elliott caught a 35-yard touchdown pass from Derek Smith; and Smith caught a 70-yard touchdown pass from Banks.

Chris Williamson led the Mountaineers on defense with eight tackles and two sacks.

it up and returned it 85 yards for a touchdown and a 12-6 lead.

Kings Mountain again drove inside the Shelby 10 in the fourth quarter, but Shelby intercepted a Brandon McClain pass and returned it 87 yards for a touchdown. A two-point conversion rounded out the scoring.

Rev. & Mrs. James (Buddy) Williams
Pastor of
Harvest Baptist Church
144 Ware Road
Kings Mountain, NC

Sunday, Oct. 8th was Pastor Appreciation Day. The church members presented Pastor Williams with a Love Offering and presented Mrs. Virginia Williams with a bouquet of red roses.

A poem was written for them:
Today is Pastor's Appreciation Day.

And this is what I have to say.
There's lots of preachers all around,
But we've got the best one in this town.
He's a kind, loving and a gentle man,
and will be there if you need a hand.
We at Harvest love him very much from God he has a special touch.
Each Sunday he keeps us on our toes
He knows the Bible and it shows.

When he preaches God's word you want to hear more
You'll never see anyone sleep or snore.
He became our Pastor when we really needed him.
I do believe God had a hand in sending him.
Bud and Virginia, you both are very dear.

I thank God for leading you here,
I know God will bless you as well as our Church
If you'll just keep on preaching God's Holy Word.
With Virginia by your side, God will supply,
not only our needs but our hearts desire.
