SNOW

From 1A

sor Don Hensley. "We had six or eight trucks out and they spread around 75 to 100 tons of sand and salt."

Though that sounds like a lot of material, Hensley said it was not as much as usual.

The N.C. Highway Patrol also reported only a few more accidents than normal due to the snow. Sgt. Benton in Shelby said his officers went to about a dozen accidents on Sunday.

Even if the roads weren't particularly slick, walking areas were. Joe Lord with the Cleveland County EMS reported that his people had a higher than usual number of calls Sunday because of slips and falls.

"One person fell off their roof," Lord said.

All in all, the snow was one of those here today, gone tomorrow events that made for a good day watching the flakes drift down.

DOWNTOWN

from Clydesdale horses to Humvees. There will be plenty of bands and celebrities as well. Over 100 entries are expected to take part in the parade.

Saturday, December 16 will see "Christmas at the Gazebo" at Patriots Park in downtown Kings Mountain. Santa will be at the Gazebo. Arriving by helicopter at 10 a.m., Sanny will meet with kids of all ages until 4 p.m. Kids who visit with Santa will receive a free photograph. Other activities will be fire truck and wagon rides, Christmas caroling, and dancing.

The American Cancer Society's Joseph R. Smith Relay For Life is holding its Second Annual Christmas Ornament Sale. The ornaments will hang in Kings Mountain City Hall.

Christmas ornament sale to benefit Relay for Life

The American Cancer Society's Joseph R. Smith Relay For Life Second Annual Christmas Ornament Sale is underway. This special event is dedicated to educating the community about cancer, remembering cancer victims, and celebrating cancer survivors.

Individuals and groups can become involved in this community effort to fight cancer by purchasing ornaments "In Honor Of," "In Memory Of," "In Appreciation Of" or "In Prayer For" the people whose lives have been touched by cancer.

Ornaments are available for purchase at $5 each at the Kings Mountain Fire Department at City Hall, or Foust Textiles at 608 Canterbury Road.

The ornaments will be placed on the Christmas tree in the lobby of City Hall. They may be retrieved by the purchaser in time to be placed on their own Christmas tree.

For more information, call Frank Burns at 734-0555, Betty Mitchell at 734-0333 or Joyce Roark at 739-4565.

Praying Hands ceremony set at KM Baptist Church

Kings Mountain Baptist Church, 101 West Mountain Street, will hold its third annual Praying Hands Award ceremony November 26 at 5 p.m.

The ceremony recognizes community leaders and groups for their contributions to the cause of Christ.

Award recipients this year include Dr. Everette B. Thombs for his work in establishing a Health and Wellness Committee for Bynum Chapel A.M.E. Zion Church; Kings Mountain Baptist WMU for their various programs to assist people in need; and Mrs. H. Lawrence Patrick for her support in development of the H. Lawrence Patrick Senior Center.

The True Discipleship Award will be announced on the night of the ceremony, and will go to one of the three Praying Hands recipients.

The awards ceremony follows a brief production called "Pilgrimage Past" performed by the youth department of Kings Mountain Baptist Church.

The production was written by Tammy Dover, a missionary and NC State Representative for The Voice of The Martyrs, an organization that serves the persecuted church and Christians.

The public is invited.
