BRIEFS

KM Class of '47 holds 54th reunion

Nineteen members of the Kings Mountain High School Class of 1947 and their spouses gathered at the Ramada Inn recently for their 54th year reunion.

Robert Neill, committee chairman, presided and opened with a welcome to all class members and their spouses. The invocation was given by Oliver Tate, assistant organizer, followed by a few minutes of meditation honoring the 22 deceased members of the class.

The group enjoyed a buffet and fellowship, sharing their achievements, interests and news about their families. Many stories of experiences in high school were remembered.

Other committee members were Helen Tate, Betty Neill and Beth Baker.

MORGAN BARRETT

Morgan Barrett celebrates birthday

Morgan Alexander Barrett, son of David and Carol Barrett of Weaverville, was four years old June 5. He celebrated June 9 with a NASCAR pool party at the home of his uncle and aunt, Randy and Cheryl Butler of Kings Mountain. Other family members and friends attended.

Grandparents are J.D. and Arlene Barrett of Kings Mountain, Evelyn Poston of Eden, Carol Fleming of Greensboro, and the late Robert T. Fleming. Great-grandmother is Daisy Queen of Kings Mountain.

Diamond Communications opens at Eastridge Mall

Diamond Communications, a cellular phone and satellite service retailer, opened a new store at Eastridge Mall June 2.

Another new store, Bobby Allison Wireless, is expected to open soon.

Open forum July 5 at KM arts center

An open forum will be held July 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the Performing Arts Center of Kings Mountain (former Joy Theatre).

The purpose of the meeting is to brainstorm about the possible uses of the facility.

Jim Champion, president of the Kings Mountain Little Theatre, said public input is needed for suggestions on the uses as well as structural changes to the facility.

KMLT recently purchased the theatre from the Gospel Assembly of Kings Mountain and plans to present all of its future plays there. The building will also be available for use by other local organizations.

Talia Gangoo on Furman dean's list
