OSHA certificate course at Gaston

Gaston College will offer a new 10-hour OSHA certificate course each Monday evening September 10-October 15. Hours are 6-8 p.m. in room 214 of the Comer Engineering Technologies Building on Gaston's main campus at 201 Highway 321 South, Dallas. Supervisors, trainers, safety managers and others interested in learning the fundamental OSHA compliance laws should take the course. Students will receive a textbook, instruction from an authorized OSHA outreach Facilitator, and a special certificate. The course will assist individuals and employees to be able to demonstrate proficiency in general industry safety standards.

Cost is $61. Seating is limited, and pre-registration is required. To register or for more information, call 922-6447.

Tracy Denise Wylie listed in Who's Who

Tracy Denise Wylie of Blacksburg, SC, daughter of Ray and Donna Wilson, has been selected by Campbell University as one of the country's most outstanding campus leaders in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

The honor is awarded to students who display outstanding achievements in scholarly endeavors and who participate and in and exercise leadership in extracurricular activities.

Hollifield graduates School of Dentistry

Dr. Michael Andrew "Andy" Hollifield of Kings Mountain recently graduated the University of Louisville, KY School of Dentistry.

The recipient of a United States Army Health Professions Scholarship. Second Lieutenant Hollifield is now stationed at Fort Jackson in Columbia, SC, where he will participate in an Advanced Education in General Dentistry program for the first year of his career as a dental officer.

Dr. Hollifield is a 1991 graduate of Kings Mountain High School and a 1996 graduate of Appalachian State University. He is the son of Dale and Theresa Hollifield of Kings Mountain.

Encampment set at KM Military Park

Kings Mountain National Military Park will host McDowell's Militia, a group of local reenactors portraying the North Carolina soldiers who fought in the Battle, Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

The event is free of charge and is open to the public both days. Reenactors will demonstrate cooking, leatherworking, gunsmithing, military drill, and other colonial crafts and trades. Muskets and rifle demonstrations are scheduled both days.

Visitors may interact with the soldiers to learn about militia recruitment, pay, and service. As militia, these citizen-soldiers saw the war differently from the better supplied and well drilled Continental Army troops.

Colonel Joseph McDowell and his riflemen played an important role in the American success at Kings Mountain. Militia fought in all the major southern battles and helped turn back the British invasion of the Carolinas. Kings Mountain is one of the few battles of the Revolution that was won by American militia alone.

The KMNMP bookstore is continually updating its selection of titles on the Revolution as well as receiving new merchandise such as Colonial toys and gifts. A film, museum, and battlefield trail orient visitors to the battleground.

For more information call (864) 936-7921 or visit www.nps.gov/kimo.

"We need families and hope."

-April, age 12
Waiting to be adopted

"My one wish is to be adopted - to be treated with dignity and love," says 12-year-old April, one of many children waiting to be adopted in Cleveland County.

We urgently need individuals and couples in Cleveland County to adopt and foster children between the ages of 6 and 16. These kids have been abused, neglected, and abandoned. Many have been separated from their brothers and sisters and need to be together.

You can adopt or foster if you are between the ages of 21 and 65 and have a stable home. You can be single, married, or divorced; work outside the home; and be any race or ethnic origin. There is no education requirement and there are no fees to adopt waiting children. Financial assistance is available in most cases. For more information call us at 704-487-0661, ext. 200.
