Keeping Tradition

Players' grandfathers were on original Ironmen team

By RONALD KISER
Sports Editor of The Eagle

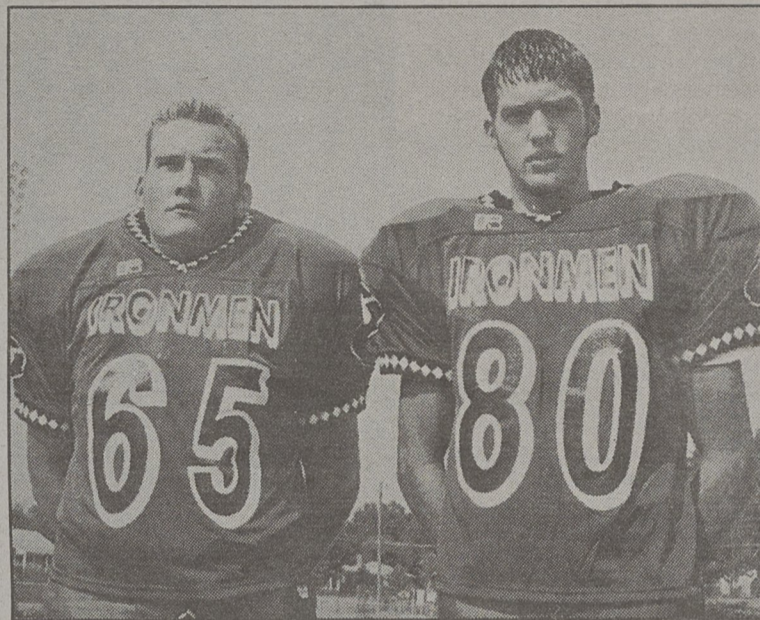

In 1934, T.A. Moss and Wayne Craft were members of the original Ironmen football team.

Now 67 years later, grandsons who just happen to have the same first name of 'Chris' grace the grid roster at Cherryville High.

Chris Moss, a senior guard at 190 pounds, and wide receiver Chris Craft, also a senior, are among 55 boys drilling daily on the practice field as Steve Wilson's Ironmen get ready for the 2001 campaign.

Grandfathers T.A. and Wayne played on Cherryville's one and only conference championship club. Moss, like grandson Chris, starred as guard and Wayne Craft was an end. Both elders Moss, now deceased, and Craft went both ways, rarely coming out of the game.

The Ironmen that season won seven games and tied three. They went undefeated and in the 6-2 win over Morganton in a Cherryville's Chris Moss (65) and Chris Craft (80) will carry on football tradition this fall when Steve Wilson's unit opens against Bunker Hill. The grandfathers of Moss and Craft played on the 1934 football team that won the conference championship to earn the nickname 'Ironmen.'

And it just so happened that Moss and Craft laid the blocks for Hubert Mauney as he Ironmen to another conference crown, the second in school history.
