Summer Ventures applications available

Applications for Summer Ventures in Science and Mathematics (SVSM), a statewide program of residential institutes to provide enrichment and research opportunities to academically talented high school students, are now available from high school guidance counselors. The completed application form must be postmarked by January 31. Summer Ventures in Science and Mathematics is the nation's largest research-oriented summer program. Approximately 550 students will participate in 2003, according to Dr. Sally Adkin, State Coordinator.

A program of the University of North Carolina system and administered by the NC School of Science and Mathematics in Durham, SVSM includes four-week programs at six campus sites during June and July for rising juniors and seniors.

No tuition or fees are charged for the program, which is beginning its 19th year.

Admission to SVSM is limited to current high school sophomores and junior whose custodial parents or guardians are legal residents of North Carolina. Students are selected on the basis of criteria including academic motivation in science and mathematics, and emotional maturity.

Sites of institutes include Appalachian State University in Boone, East Carolina University in Greenville, NC Central University in Durham, University of North Carolina at Charlotte, University of North Carolina at Wilmington, and Western Carolina University in Cullowhee.

Applications are available in all North Carolina high school guidance offices as well as online. You can download an application at www.ncssm.edu/outreach/svsm.html. For further information contact the state coordinator's office at 919-416-2876.
