Parents volunteer at Mauney Library

BY ANDIE L. BRYMER
Staff Writer

They started as parents and grandparents bringing children to story hour at Mauney Memorial Library. They watched children's librarian Christy Conner read, dance, sing, serve snacks and make crafts. Her enthusiasm rubbed off and now several are volunteers each week at the library.

Parent April Dawson got involved with the library by taking daughter, Taylor Dawson, 3, to the weekly program. Before then, Dawson rarely visited the library. Now she is helping other parents learn their way around. "It's really fun," Dawson said. She has watched her daughter go from avoiding books to asking for multiple stories at bedtime. Robert and Joyce Ledford first volunteered three years when their granddaughter Autumn Reece began attending story hour.

"One thing led to another," Robert Ledford said as he helped hang pictures for a children's art exhibition. For the Ledfords, the best part of volunteering is watching the children enjoy themselves.

"I love the children. I love to see their eyes light up," Joyce Ledford said.

Pilar Costner is a new volunteer. She's watched her granddaughter Makayla Bradley, 4, benefit from the library's programs and wanted to give something back.

"It's nice to help out. Christy does such a good job. You want to help out," she said.

Conner's warm rapport with her volunteers is obvious to even the casual observer. She calls them a "blessing from Heaven." Conner credits her many volunteers, not all featured here, for helping her keep the children's programs going.

"They do a whole lot," she said.
