Bethware to hold Jump Rope event

Bethware Elementary School will hold a Jump Rope for Heart February 23-27 during regularly scheduled classes in the school gymnasium.

The event will raise funds to help fight heart disease and stroke.

Students jump rope and collect donations from family and friends. Jumpers who raise a certain amount of money receive thank-you gifts.

Jump Rope for Heart is a school fitness and education program. It teaches the value of cardiovascular fitness while raising money for research into heart disease and stroke. The diseases are the nation's number 1 and 3 killers.

Jump Rope for Heart is co-sponsored by the American Heart Association and the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance.

Advanced Foods with Mrs. Kay Stowe received certification from the National Restaurant Association for successfully completing the ServSafe study and making a score of 75 or better on the certification exam.

ServSafe is highly recognized in the food service industry as training in the safe and sanitary handling of food. Restaurants and food service establishments that have a certified employee in management or management training receive an additional two points on health inspections.

Kings Mountain High School's Family and Consumer Science Department is participating in a pilot program drawn up by the North Carolina Department of Instruction, thus being able to offer the ServSafe program as a part of the foods classes. Students complete a semester of Foods and Nutrition and a semester course Advanced Foods. The ServSafe certification should boost student's employability in entering the food service industry and entering management training.

Students receiving certificates were Tim Baity, Haley Crosby, Shera Detter, Kylie Dorman, Nicole Hoskins, Sherika Lockhart, Tina Sprouse, Stacy Welch and Tasha Wood.
