Kings Row Apartment developers are pleased with the response to its 56-unit complex located across from Kings Mountain Intermediate School.

Built by Eagan Partners, the apartments are part of a tax credit program. Individuals renting units can not exceed an income threshold. An individual can make no more than $20,520. For a family of two the maximum is $23,460; three, $26,400; four, $29,340; five, $31,680; six, $34,020; seven, $36,360. Rent begins at $360 for two bedroom/two bath units and $408 for a three bedroom/two bath unit. Water and sewer are included.

So far 15 people have requested rental applications, according to Mark Muncus, regional property manager.

"I think it's going to be a quick rent," he said.

Units include washer/dryer connections, dishwasher, disposal, stove and self-cleaning oven, frost free refrigerator with ice maker, computer work station, exterior storage, balcony or patio and walk-in closet.

The company is partnering with Cleveland County

Community Development to provide computer classes and tutoring for children and parenting and GED classes for adults. Classes will be offered in the community center. The building has a homework and reading library, activity and game room and a screened porch.

Kings Mountain Police Captain Derek Johnson, left, Sgt. Lisa Proctor, Sgt. Chris Moore and Cpl. Doug Shockley hold Region C awards for work on a felony vehicle stop. The officers assisted a Cleveland County Sheriff's deputy apprehend three shooting suspects.

Exhibit at Art Center

The Southern Arts Society will exhibit "Familiar Places," the artwork of member Jack Greenfield, at the Kings Mountain Art Center until March 20.

A public reception will be held Sunday, Feb. 20 from 1-4 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Greenfield was born in Ohio but has spent the past 50 years living in the South. He is now enjoying retirement after a 30-year career with the Internal Revenue Service. He presently lives in Kings Mountain with his wife, the former Helen Lancaster.

The Art Center hours are Saturday and Sunday from 1-4 p.m. or by appointment. Other members' artwork is also on exhibit and for sale. For more information call the Art Center at 704-739-5585.

GOP to hold precinct meetings

The Cleveland County Republican Party will hold precinct meetings and annual convention on March 3. Precinct meetings will start at 7 p.m. The Convention will start at 7:30 p.m. The event will be held at the GOP headquarters, at the corner of Marion and Washington Streets in Shelby.

All residents of Cleveland County who were registered as Republican by January 31 are invited to attend and participate, and should take their voter registration card and identification. Delegates elected to the County Convention will be asked to pay a $5 registration fee.

During the precinct meetings, voters will select precinct officers and delegates to the County Convention, which will immediately follow. During the County Convention, delegates will select CCGOP Officers for the next two years, an Executive Board and Delegates to the 10th District Convention and NCGOP Convention.

The annual State Convention will see approximately 800 to 1,000 delegates and guests from around the state converge on the Asheville Civic Center. Delegates will receive reports on the state of the NCGOP, debate changes to the platform and plan of organization, vote on a NCGOP chairman, and hear addresses from state and national political figures.

For more information about the NCGOP convention, visit www.ncgop.org/2005Convention. Delegates to the NCGOP and 10th District GOP conventions must be elected as a delegate or alternate by the county convention.

For more information contact Wes Westmoreland at 704-484-2GOP.

Chamber work plan available

A document that serves as the Cleveland County Chamber's program of work for 2005 is available to the community on the organization's web site. The document includes information on the Chamber's Planning and Administrative Council, the Cleveland 20/20 Economic Development Partnership, and the five divisions of the Chamber. The plan can be found at www.clevelandchamber.org and can be viewed by clicking the "Publications & Printed Materials" icon. Hard copies will soon be available at the Chamber office. The document is presented in pdf format and can be viewed online or printed by the user.
