Walkers Enhance Independence

When mobility is an issue, a walker can provide stability, confidence, comfort, and peace of mind. Single-release and dual-release walkers and accessories are available to aid individuals in the home, in facilities, and around town. Today's walkers are ergonomically built to fold and close easily for convenient transport and storage. Handgrips are comfortable and durable. Anti-rattle silencers make walkers quieter than ever, while crutch glide tips for the bottom enhance mobility and stability. Walker baskets can be mounted on walkers to provide storage space when shopping or traveling. Trays can also be attached to offer access to frequently used items or dishes. Rolling walkers with hand brakes are great for longer distances.
