LIFESTYLES

Grover Fall Festival Saturday

EMILY WEAVER

eweaver@kingsmountainherald.com

Grover's first Fall Festival will be held on Saturday, November 3, beginning at 9 a.m. on Main Street.

The day of fun will feature: hay rides, provided by town Councilman Brent White; inflatable activities for the children, including a climbing wall, sponsored by the police department, rescue department, the Town of Grover, and Mayor Pro-tem Adam Green; food vendors, including Grover's own Carolina Crossing and the Grover Area Woman's Club; several local and regional craft vendors; live performances by The Griggs, Caroline Allen, Jimmy Bowers and Dillon White; and the musical stylings of a local DJ.

Traffic will be rerouted around Main Street during the festival. Drawings, raffles and other treats also await Grover's fall fest crowds. Face painting will be provided by local artisans.

Festival planners Tricia Willis and Ryan Causby are hoping for this first-time event to draw large crowds. If all goes well, this festival may be the historic beginning of a town's annual tradition.

For more information about the Grover Fall Festival, call 704-937-9986.
