Grover police, fire departments join forces to provide more protection for community

Grover Police and Grover Rural Volunteer Fire departments have joined forces in obtaining and maintaining new emergency equipment, which will provide extra service and protection to the Grover community.

Police Chief Tommy Carroll said that they now have an AED (Automatic External Defibrillator). Collaborating with the fire department, the police have now made the life-saving device fully-operational.

"The AED is beneficial if, say, somebody has had a heart attack and they haven't been down longer than five minutes or so," he said, opening the device's red case. "It tells you everything you need to do."

He added that the AED may really come in handy if he or Cpl. Todd Martin are the first responders on the scene of a cardiac arrest. The AED, which sends an electric shock to the heart, is commonly used among first responders to save lives. "Having this is a benefit for the citizens of this town," Carroll said.

Grover Fire Lt. Bill Moore said that if the police chief or Martin are already on duty, they could arrive at the scene faster than dispatch could get others out. Therefore, it is imperative the police are equipped with these life-saving tools. GRVFD also has AEDs on a few of their trucks, making both departments prepared for a cardiac emergency.

Chief Carroll said that another new piece of equipment they have is a medic bag, chocked full of basic emergency medical supplies. "As long as I am on duty I can beat them to a scene. So by having this, it's really a positive aspect for the town," he said. "With the medic bag we have equipment that we can use until EMS arrives that will help with the load time of a patient in desperate need of emergency care. This will also help EMS workers."

In a joint effort, the fire department maintains the upkeep of Carroll's emergency equipment. "I want to be able to work together well with all of the departments. That's what I'm trying to do and I think it's working out good so far," he said.

"In a state of emergency, this will quicken response time," Moore said about their departments' collaboration. "That's the biggest thing as far as medical calls, especially if it's something severe. Response time is just about everything."

"I'd like the community to know that if they have an emergency that we're going to be there united and prepared," Carroll said.
