Foreign Exchange Student takes to high seas with 'sexy legs'

Aloysio Lisboa, a foreign exchange student from Brazil, went on his very first cruise to Bermuda recently with his coordinator Ginger Jeffcoat, of AIFS Foundation, and several couples from St. Matthews Lutheran Church.

Lisboa, 17, had a memorable time, winning the "Mr. Sexy Legs" contest onboard the ship Norwegian Majesty. In another cruise ship event, he was asked to participate in the "YMCA Village People" performance on stage as the construction worker character of the group.

He attends Kings Mountain High School. Lisboa is staying with Nikki and Rodney Paulson and their family of Kings Mountain. He will be going back to Brazil this summer.
