

50 businesses to fill 12th chamber Showcase

Chamber gets ready for 'Gems, Mines and Minerals'

More than 50 businesses will be represented at the 12th annual Kings Mountain Business Showcase to be held at city hall Feb. 23-March 19.

The invitation-only kickoff for the showcase will take place on Tuesday evening, Feb. 23, from 5:30-7 p.m. with food, fun, music and door prizes. The showcase will be free and open to the public during city hall's normal business hours through March 19th.

The theme for this year's Cleveland County Chamber of Commerce-sponsored event will be "Gems, Mines and Minerals." Exhibits will be judged on how well their displays tie in with this theme.

"This should be a lot of fun and bring (out) how important mining was and is to our town, county and our country," said Shirley Brutko, executive director of the Kings Mountain chamber branch.

The showcase was open to both Chamber members and non-members this year and spaces seemed to fill up fast. Within weeks after the registry was opened to participants, it was full.

Last year, 50 companies participated in the Business Showcase that was visited by an estimated 2,000 people during its four-week run.

"This is a great opportunity to advertise your business because everyone who visits city hall will be able to view your display, and see how your business may be of service to them," Brutko said.

During the kickoff ceremony Tuesday night, the chamber will also recognize an outstanding Kings Mountain businessperson.

Presenting sponsors for the showcase this year are Warlick & Hamrick Insurance, Evonik Energy Services LLC, First National Bank and Martin Marietta Aggregates.

Other sponsors, include the City of Kings Mountain, Hospice Cleveland County, Kings Mountain Woman's Club, Premier Federal Credit Union; and, for food, Big E's BBQ, KFC, Kings Mountain High School, Linwood Restaurant, Subway, the Cup & Saucer Tea Room; and, for floral decorations, Carolina Roses.

Council appoints four to steering committee

City Council Wednesday appointed four people to a steering committee to serve with other county leaders to develop a comprehensive transportation plan that would replace other thoroughfare plans here and in the county.

Mayor Rick Murphrey said that a coordinated plan would help with funding for transportation projects and for certain types of infrastructure such as sidewalks, turn lanes, and greenways at or in affected development.

The new committee includes Public Works Director Jackie Barnette, Police Chief Melvin Proctor, Planning Director Steve Killian and Planning and Zoning member Dave Allen.

Murphrey said the committee will be instrumental, along with county members, in guiding NCDOT in their development of a transportation plan that would affect not only Kings Mountain but also the rest of the county.

David from NCDOT has been in Kings Mountain for several meetings with the Chamber of Commerce transportation committee.

under control, lowering energy prices, fighting bad trade deals and investing in our worker training programs," McHenry said. "Our working families are doing their best to work through bad conditions and I want to ensure that the federal government is a help, not a hindrance, to them."

McHenry also pledged to continue fighting the Washington political establishment, which is continuing to drive up the national debt. "Washington's reckless spending is making it harder to create jobs and it's endangering the future of our nation," he said. "I voted against Barack Obama's so-called stimulus, the misguided government bailout, and the President's big spending budget. I'm proud of my voting record."

"I have done what I said I would do," McHenry added. "I have fought for the interest of the people of Western North Carolina. I look forward to a meaningful discussion of the issues during the campaign. I intend to win this election and continue to fight for Western North Carolina values."

Since taking office in 2005, McHenry has carried every county in the district in every subsequent primary and general election. A former member of the North Carolina House of Representatives, McHenry has received numerous awards during his tenure in Congress from conservative advocacy organizations and taxpayer groups for his outspoken support of limited government, low taxes and conservative principles.

Primary filing ends May 26 at noon. The primary election is May 4. The general election is Nov. 2.
