Friday's Place Health Education & Training was established to help individuals obtain a marketable skill in the health care field. The courses prepare students to take the state and national exams in order to become certified.

Dyer earns SECU Foundation scholarship

The State Employees' Credit Union's Foundation, funded by SECU members, recently presented a $10,000 four-year college scholarship to Daniel Joseph Dyer, a 2010 graduate of Kings Mountain High School. Daniel is the son of Bobby and Jean Dyer.

The scholarship was awarded for study at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, part of the state's 16-campus University of North Carolina system.

The scholarship was given based on SECU's philosophy of "People Helping People," recognizing the recipient's community involvement, leadership skills, character and integrity, as well as scholastic achievement of maintaining a 2.5 or higher grade point average. The scholarship will be used for tuition and university-approved educational expenses over eight consecutive semesters.

A representative of SECU awards Daniel Joseph Dyer with a $10,000 scholarship.
