Bailey Tate took sixth place in National Junior High Finals Rodeo in Gallup, New Mexico.

Tate has good showing in National Jr. Rodeo

Bailey Tate, a rising 9th grader at North Gaston High School, pulled down 6th and 8th place rankings at the ninth annual National Junior High Finals Rodeo (NJHFR) in Gallup, New Mexico, last week.

Tate, who made the long trip with three fellow North Carolina National Junior High rodeo teammates, won 6th place in Barrel Racing and 8th in Pole Bending.

"This is the biggest event, prestige-wise, that she's competed in yet," said her grandfather Randy Franklin, who attended the seven-day event along with Tate's mother Kim Tate (Franklin) Stines and her brother Jayden, 10.

Featuring more than 1,000 contestants from 41 states, including Alaska, five Canadian provinces and Australia, the National Junior High Finals Rodeo is the world's largest junior high rodeo. In addition to competing for more than $75,000 in prizes, National Junior High Finals Rodeo contestants like Tate, 14, vied for more than $100,000 in college scholarships and the chance to be named the National Junior High Finals Rodeo National Champion. Live broadcasts of each National Junior High Finals performance were broadcast online at www.nhsratv.com.

Tate, who took up competitive riding at age 7, is no stranger to winning. At 10 earned fifth place at the 12 and under Youth World Championship in Jackson, Mississippi. Last year, she was the Youth 1D champion saddle winner at Double HH Ranch in Kings Mountain, and placed third in the Ed Brown IPRA Rodeo. Tate was also an A Honor Roll student at W.C. Friday Middle School.

"Bailey got to meet a lot of people - got to know people she competes with on the state level" at the New Mexico event, said Franklin.

Tate wasn't the only member of her family who saw some action.

On Saturday her younger brother spotted an unattended truck that was rolling because it had been left in gear. The youngster responded quickly and jumped into the cab of the truck, which was hooked to a trailer carrying horses, and brought it to a stop.

"He said it himself and he's right - he saved the day," the boy's grandfather said. "People could have been hurt."

Later this month Tate heads to Perry, Ga., to compete in the National Barrel Horse Association (NBHA) Days.

Tate is sponsored by Dr. David White, DDS, PA, Orthodontist, Gastonia, Southern States farm supply of Gastonia, and the Double HH Ranch of Kings Mountain. For more National Junior High Finals Rodeo results, visit www.nhsra.org.

Post 155 drops first two in Area IV Legion playoffs

Kings Mountain Post 155 was facing elimination from the Area IV playoffs in a scheduled doubleheader Tuesday night at Lancaster Field.

After five days of postponements due to heavy rains, the best-of-five series finally got underway Monday night at Hickory with Hickory winning 8-0 and 16-2.

Should KM be successful and win two Tuesday, the series would move back to Hickory today for the deciding game. A Hickory win Tuesday would end the series and send them into the second round against the winner of the Gaston Braves-Rutherford County series beginning tonight.

Kings Mountain held tough in game one before Hickory scored four runs in the sixth inning to put the game away.

Game two was tied at 2-all before Hickory scored five runs in the second inning to take command and put the game away on the 10-run mercy rule after five innings.

After going 6-1 to lead the East Division, Post 155 has dropped eight of its last ten games.
