

Mrs. Louis Edward Cook

Scarlett Ann Morrison Becomes Mrs. Cook

October 16, 7:00 P.M. at First Baptist Church, in Grover, N.C. was the setting for impressive rites joining Scarlett Ann Morrison, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Francis Scarr Morrison of 406 Edgemont Drive to Louis Edward Cook, son of Mr. & Mrs. J. Pinkney Cook of Carolina Ave, Grover, N.C.

Rev. Paul Millwood performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. J.N. McClure, was organist for a program of nuptial music which included such arrangements as Ariso, Handel, Adagio-Guilment, Sheep May Safely Graze-Bach, Ave Verum-Mozart, Processional March-Grieg, and the Recessional - March of the Nobles-Keats.

Vocal selections given by Mr. Burlie Peeler, included Because-Teschemacher and The Lords Prayer - Gates. The Church decorations included baskets of flowers, palms, and candleabras.

Given in marriage by her father, the brides wedding gown was of mirror mist taffeta and Venise lace, designed by Edyth Vincent.

The bodice of lace, featured soft rolled collar and full Bishop sleeves with lace cuffs. The A-line skirt of taffeta was finished with a band of lace around Chapel train.

Miss Morrison's veil was a full length Martilla of English illusion which was edged with matching Venise lace and worn with Mary, Queen of Scots Cap.

The bride carried a bouquet of Semi-Crescent with white orchid in the middle to be lifted out for a corsage, stephanotis, and white and pink sweetheart roses with ivy-tied with brief satin ribbons.

The groom's boutonniere was a sprig of stephanotis taken from the bride's bouquet.

Miss Marion Morrison, of Charlotte attended her sister as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were: Scarlett Sheffe, Charlotte, cousin of bride; Mrs. Jeff Mercer, Richmond, Va., cousin of bride; Mrs. Jerry Cook, Grover N.C., sister-in-law of groom; Miss Susan Welch, Waynesville, N.C.

Attendants were identically dressed in Primrose pink dresses with empire waist, Juliet sleeves, and a scooped neckline. The sleeves and waistline were trimmed in light pink crocheted lace.

Each attendant carried nosegays predominately pink of sweetheart roses, pink shastas and carnations, with white snowdrifts and occasional lavender asters and blue lavender shastas tied with pink streamers.

Mr. J.P. Cook, father of the bridegroom served as best man.

Groomsmen included: Mr. Jerry Cook, Grover, N.C. brother of the groom, Richard S. Morrison, Kings Mtn., N.C. Brother of bride; Richard Little, Cramerton, N.C. cousin of groom; Lael H. Blackstone, Clearwater, Fla. cousin of bride; Hubert McGinnis, Jr. Kings Mtn. Clarence Hugh Edward, 111, Greenville, S.C. nephew of bride served as ring bearer.

Out-of-Town-Guests: Mrs. C.L. Walton, grandmother of bride, Glen Alpine, N.C. Mrs. Cal Blackstone, Clearwater, Fla., Miss Marilyn James, Marion, N.C., Mrs. F.S. Morrison, Sr., grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. W.G. In Fashion

This summer season has been a hatless one. Many of the church congregations have numbered very few hats but with winter coming on and the honey-comb hair-dos passe', women are beginning to look for felts and fur bonnets.

Some of the felts are rather large with bands or buckles of a different color. They are flexible and brims can be turned in the way most becoming to the wearer.

Wet Weekend At Golden Valley

The autumn season is my favorite time of year. The shortening days are cool in the mornings and the dew lingers until nearly noon. The mid-afternoon heat is a reminder of summer just past and the falling leaves are a reminder of winter to come. It's the time of year when one thinks about a trip to the mountains or a last weekend vacation before the cold weather sets in.

So it was this past weekend when Cadette Girl Scouts from the Pioneer Council planned a camporee at Golden Valley in Rutherford County. These junior high school age girls were looking forward to a weekend of fun and fellowship and cooking over campfires, canoeing on the lake and sleeping under the stars.

Five troops of Girl Scouts arrived on Friday evening with eight more troops scheduled to arrive on Saturday morning. As darkness fell on Friday Night, there were no stars to be seen, but no-one showed concern and soon eighty three scouts and leaders were settling down in their sleeping bags in tents which scattered across the grassy meadows.

The unexpected storm took everyone by complete surprise. Its intensity was so unusual for this time of year.

A night time storm is awe-inspiring when watched in comfortable safety from a darkened room. A similar storm is devastating when watched from the merely slight protection of a poncho while never-ending flashes of lightning are illuminating three young girls, frantically bailing water out of their tent trenches with drinking cups! There were very few dry sleeping bags on Saturday Morning.

MIKE MUSCAT

Rehearsals In Full Swing For "The Mousetrap"

The next few weeks will be very hectic for these three cast members of the Kings Mountain Little Theatre's latest production. Joseph A. Hulleander, Jr. is perfecting his British accent in order to play the role of Detective Sergeant Trotter. Joe will be well remembered in his last role as the bumbling crook, "Sol Bozo," in "Everybody Loves Opal."

While at U.N.C. (Chapel Hill) Joe played the part of Cadmus in the play "Baccab" by Euripedes (new translation by Anthony Holder) at it's world premier showing in 1969.

Also, while at Chapel Hill, he was student narrator and Leiss planetarium projector operator at the Morehead Planetarium. Presently a process development technician at Lithium Corporation of America, Joe is also a keen photographer and takes credit for these cast pictures.

A great favorite of Kings Mountain audiences in Nan Jean Grant who will be playing the part of Mrs. Boyles. Nan Jean is delighted to be playing a completely different character from the one she created in the lead role of "Everybody Loves Opal". She hopes that everyone will detest Mrs. Boyles as much as they loved Opal. Nan Jean will also be remembered as "Mrs. Paddy" in "The Curious Savage," "Mrs. Banks" in "Barefoot in the Park" and as the director of "Cinderella." Fusing the Science and the Art of Communication, Nan Jean serves the City School System as a Speech Therapist.

A newcomer to the Kings Mountain Little Theatre, but not to the stage is Mike Muscat who resides in Gastonia. Mike is playing the part of "Christopher Wren." As a member of the Hunter Huss Drama Class, Mike appeared in two plays - "If Girls Ask Boys For Dates" and "The Storm" and he also starred in the school Senior Class Play, "Go West Young Man".

Earlier this year Mike had the leading male role in the Gastonia Little Theatre's production of "Where's Daddy?" Voted dramatist of the year by fellow members of his drama class, Mike is a member of the National Thesbian Society attaining the highest rank of five star thesbian. Mike is married and has a three month old son.

"The Mousetrap" will be presented on November 5th, 6th, 13th and 16th.

For Theatre enthusiasts, the Gastonia Little Theatre will be presenting "Sunday in New York" on October 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 28th, 29th and 30th. Curtain time is 8:15 at the Little Theatre building on Clay Street.
